ROOSEVELT REQUESTS 9 BILLIONS

DIVER LOCATES SLAIN OHIOAN IN OLD QUARRY

'Plain Case of Murder,' Says Prosecutor; Victim Missing Since Wedding Eve.

ICE HAMPERS REMOVAL

Trucker Found in 22 Feet of Water After Searchers Find Hole in 4-Inch Ice.

MARYSVILLE — A diver reported today he found the weighted body of Clark Scott Hayes, 28, in an abandoned quarry and Prosecutor William J. Porter said "It's a plain case of murder."

Hayes, a clerk and delivery truck driver for the Charles Nichols grocery at Summersville, disappeared late Tuesday, the day before he was scheduled to be married to Miss Oletha Morrow, 26, of York township.

Break Ice First.

The diver, who was assigned here by the Thatcher Dredging company of Toledo, said he found the body in 22 feet of water.

No immediate effort was made to recover the body until ice four inches thick could be broken from the pond. A boat was to be brought here by the state conservation department for use in raising the body to the surface.

"We don't want to disturb any evidence if we can possibly help it," Porter said.

Porter, who was at the quarry when the diver reported after exploring the depths of the old pool for 42 minutes, declared "We thought he had been slain and now we are going ahead and work on several angles which have developed."

Keeps Details Secret.

Porter declined to discuss the information he had obtained or to speculate on a possible motive.

Hayes was last seen Tuesday evening as he made his rounds delivering groceries. Later his truck was found on its side in a ditch and Union county authorities expressed the opinion he had been forced from the road and robbed. A search of the truck, however, revealed $47.25 belonging to his employer, and $100 Hayes had saved for his wedding day.

Late yesterday friends who had organized a searching party discovered the hole in the ice at the abandoned quarry.

Davey Keeps 'Em Guessing On His Political Future

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Governor Martin L. Davey, who will retire from office next Monday after four years in the executive office, had his friends guessing about his future political plans today.

At a testimonial dinner last night, attended by 2,000 friends of the governor, he told them:

"I say this to all those who believe in me—and the cynics can go to hell—that I have absolutely no plans for the future as far as politics are concerned. I am not a candidate for anything."

But a short time later, he said: "But God knows what will happen to the old fire horse when the fire bell rings."

Gov. Davey revealed plans for an immediate vacation in Florida and the Caribbean.

"The greatest ambition of my life was to do a good job," he said. "I believe it may fairly be said that ambition has been achieved."

Los Angeles Wants 25 Manhole Covers Returned by Pranksters.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Detective Capt. J. R. Edwards has asked some 25 Los Angeles residents, including several movie personages, to turn over to the city certain of their Christmas presents.

The presents—manhole covers. (Pranksters "lifted" them, wrapped them in transparent paper, delivered them as Yule gifts.)

SENTENCED TO PEN

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Charles Sabetto, 61, was sentenced today to 1-20 years in prison for shooting Harry H. Canfield, city manager of Cleveland Heights, at a council meeting last September. Police said Sabetto was angry over his dismissal as a street sweeper.

$100,000 on Hand, Fails to Cheer City

Thrift Must Be Byword Despite Big Balance, Auditor Warns.

As council's finance committee prepared to lay the groundwork for the framing of the 1939 appropriations ordinance at a meeting tonight, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley, warned that despite the fact that the city ended 1938 with an unencumbered balance of $100,000 in various funds, it would still have to operate in a frugal manner during the coming year to make both ends meet.

Kelley made this statement today as he scanned preliminary estimates on available money which will be submitted to the finance committee tonight.

The auditor estimated that the city would have a "top figure" of about $600,000 to spend on services of all kinds, with the exception of bond retirement, during the year.

Estimates Income.

He emphasized however, that his figures were purely an estimate and might not be realized by actual income, which in some cases is derived from state taxes of which there can be no certainty.

Bond retirement which last year cost the city $134,444.08 will be cut this year to $132,542.93.

Included in the $600,000 figure are appropriations for the operation of the waterworks, garbage and sanitary sewer departments, all of which are supposed to be self sustaining.

Kelley's estimate of funds available during 1939 for general operating purposes is $288,070, or approximately $12,000 more than the general fund figure of last year.

The auditor's balance sheet for the year showed a running cash balance of $19,519 in the general fund, carried over this year. He pointed out that the fund from which the operating expenses of the city are paid probably would show only a scant $5,000 when all outstanding bills are met.

Other balances are waterworks, boosted by a recent collection, $40,567; the garbage fund with a balance of $5,444, and the sanitary sewer fund, also bolstered by a recent collection, $8,511, and the specials funds with a balance of $42,530.

Kelley said that even with these balances which total $100,000 the city would be obliged to operate virtually from "hand to mouth" because additional operating expenses have kept pace with the added income.

No Provision For Relief.

The major reason for the puzzling financial outlook for this

'SPRING' AT END

Freezing Weather to Return in 36 Hours, Forecast.

Ohio's "Preview of Spring," delightful as it is, will be brought to an abrupt close with the return of freezing weather within the next 36 hours, according to official weathermen. Cloudy and colder tonight; fair and colder Friday, was the pronouncement from the weather bureau.

But in the meantime Mansfield was enjoying the kind of weather that suggested steak-roasts and picnics, 60-degree temperatures persisting despite a prediction that today would be colder.

At noon today, the mercury stood at an unseasonable and unbelievable 60, one degree above yesterday afternoon's high of 59. Last night's low was 34, and the 24-hour average was 46, 13 degress above normal.

Columbus had a balmy 61 today, an all-time high for Jan. 5.

Hiranuma, New Premier, Says Nippon Will Remove Obstacles.

TOKYO—(U.P.)—Premier Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma, founder of the militaristic right-wing Kokuhonsha, took over leadership of the government today with an announcement that Japan is "determined to remove obstacles" to her Far Eastern policy.

Baron Hiranuma said: "National solidarity must be even further strengthened. I am determined to remove obstacles arising over our foreign policy."

As President Warned of War's Threats

FRANKFURTER NEW JUSTICE

Roosevelt Names Harvard Law School Professor to Take Post of Cardozo.

(Picture on Page 8)

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt today appointed Felix Frankfurter, of the Harvard law school, to the United States supreme court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo.

President Roosevelt also appointed former Sen. James P. Pope of Idaho as a member of the Tennessee Valley Authority succeeding Arthur E. Morgan, deposed chairman. There were about 100 other appointments of less importance.

The nomination was announced at the White House only a few minutes before it was transmitted to the senate, where prompt and speedy confirmation is expected.

The appointment was not wholly unexpected, although it had been thought for a time that the president would go west to fill the current vacancy, in view of the fact that the Far West is not now represented on the court.

Mr. Roosevelt turned, however, to his old friend and frequent advisor, the Harvard law professor, who is highly regarded by the New Deal and Democratic liberals generally. Incidentally, the appointment of Prof. Frankfurter maintains two Jews on the bench, the

Knight of Road Brings Gay Interlude to News Room

Living Example of 'Bad Citizenship,' Knute Hofius Is No Ordinary Bum—He's Philosopher and Wit.

By JANE WILLIAMS

Perhaps it was the lilt of spring in the air . . .

But when Knute Hofius, knight errant of flop houses and trampador of the railroad tracks, breezed into the busy News-Journal newsroom yesterday, he brought with him a Gay Interlude, a swift glimpse of spring-swept roads, of open fields, of funny people. . . .

Hofius, as you may possibly know since he has received almost as much publicity as Greta Garbo, is a Tennyson of the Open Roads, a Francois Villon of the 1900's, a Kipling whose ballads sing of "the jungle" which adjoins the railroad tracks, of blistered heels and soup lines. . . .

Travels With Scrapbook.

Knute travels lightly, his only equipment being the quite neat and nice-appearing clothes on his jaunty back, a small suitcase which contains, not suits, but a most amazing scrapbook which holds press clippings from practically every newspaper in the United States, and the signatures of celebrities, and two tiny volumes— the New Testament and Webster's dictionary.

"I'm a philosopher and poet, a bit of a wit and a wag," he admitted with irresistable good humor and braggadoccio. . . .

"I don't work, I have no responsibilities, I'm a living example of Bad Citizenship; I don't pay taxes, I have no property, I live by my wits: sometimes I feast and sometimes I'm hungry—but 20 Others Hurt as Twister Hits Tennessee.

LURAY, Tenn.—(AP)—Homeless families picked over debris left in west Tennessee today by cyclonic winds that took at least three lives, injured some 20 persons and demolished homes and store buildings.

Striking last night following a period of unseasonably warm weather, the storm cut a well-defined quarter-mile path in this area.

The dead were Mrs. Cecil Wilson of Bargerton, killed when her farm home was demolished; Mary Ann Wilson, 4, her daughter, and Monroe Willis, 45, of Silerton, killed when his home collapsed.

91 TO GRADUATE AT SENIOR HIGH

Mid-Year Commencement Set for Jan. 27; Ada Educator Will Be Speaker.

Ninety-one students at Mansfield Senior high school had been approved today by the board of education for graduation at mid-year commencement exercises Jan. 27 in the high school auditorium.

Dr. Robert Williams, president of Ohio Northern university at Ada, will address the class of 47 boys and 44 girls. William Fishback is president of the class.

One of the leading educators in the state, Dr. Williams is in constant demand as a commencement speaker. He is popular with students at Ohio Northern university for his heart-to-heart talks and his entertaining lectures at chapel services.

The class is the largest group to graduate in January from the high school since 1935 when 120 seniors received diplomas. Last year, 88 pupils were graduated at mid-year commencement exercises.

Pupils who are scheduled to receive diplomas are:

"It's Swell," Is General Feeling at Main Street 'School.'

While the Mansfield board of education has been busier than the Old Woman in the Shoe, who, you may recall, had so many children she didn't know what to do with 'em, the children themselves are having a jolly and far from routine, life.

In fact, it keeps John Simpson Junior High pupils pretty busy figuring out where they are going to classes, and which classes, if any. But you can bet they are having a lot of fun out of their "homeless" state while their old building is being razed to make way for the new one.

Several hundred pupils are being squeezed into Hedges Junior high building, which is already overcrowded; 400 more will be housed in the newer section of John Simpson — the gymnasium which will be used in the new structure.

But it's the pupils who are quartered in business rooms that are getting the biggest thrill.

"It's swell," one boy said as he started up the stairs to the second floor of the Warner Brothers building, which the board of education has leased from the Republican executive committee, "if it weren't for the blackboards, you'd never know it was a school."

But one junior high student was disgruntled. "I don't like it," he said, "the rooms are all right, you understand, and there's lots of light—but I can't forget that it's the Republican

BATTLE LINES FORM ON U. S. PEACE POLICY

G. O. P. and Conservative Dems Charge Roosevelt Urging 'World Policing.'

CALL PLAN WAR THREAT

New Deal Foes See Congress 'Accept Responsibilities' Outlined in Message.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Conservative Democrats and Republicans prepared today for a fight on a wide front against the foreign and domestic programs President Roosevelt outlined in his state of the union address to congress.

Isolationists charged that the president desired to appoint the United States as "world policeman," and that such a policy eventually would plunge the country into war. Economy bloc leaders protested continuation of large-scale spending, and were ready to challenge budget recommendations. Legislators clamoring for drastic revision of New Deal laws, particularly the National Labor Relations act, deplored the absence of specific White House proposals.

See Experimentation End.

Leading administration opponents predicted that congress would "accept the responsibility" for reducing government activities. They interpreted as heralding the end of New Deal experimentation the president's assertion that "the past three congresses have met in part or in whole the pressing needs of the new order of things."

Until the administration prepares specific recommendations on foreign policy and accompanying questions of national defense and neutrality, congressional leaders will concentrate on proposals for broad changes in existing laws.

The president said "the nation looks to congress to improve the new machinery which we have permanently installed, provided that in the process the social usefulness of the machinery is not destroyed or impaired." He placed 200 Flee as Flames Sweep N. Y. Apartment Building.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Four persons, including a man and wife, were burned to death today when a two-alarm fire roared through a five-story "old law" tenement in uptown Manhattan. Firemen fought the blaze for two and a half hours before bringing it under control.

The dead: Harry Argess, 20, and his wife, Beckie, 18; Mrs. Georgette Daugnault, 65; Mrs. Anna Le Clair, 52.

Mrs. Le Clair's husband, William, 54, escaped death but suffered burns of the face and body.

Flames licked out windows as panic-stricken tenants numbering about 200 fought their way down fire escapes in freezing temperatures, clad only in night clothes.

President Roosevelt's budget message to congress today requested expenditures totaling $8,995,663,200; urged appropriation of $1,609,000,000 for defense purposes and $1,500,000,000 for WPA. The budget projected on unprecedented public debt of $44,458,000,000 in 1940.

On the heels of the president's "state of the nation" address to congress yesterday, foes of the New Deal today began organizing forces to fight foreign and domestic policies which Mr. Roosevelt outlined. Predicting the foreign policy would "plunge the nation into war," Republicans and conservative Democrats charged Mr. Roosevelt desired to appoint the United States as a "world policeman."

The "state of the nation" address drew stinging criticism from Germany's government-controlled press which charged the address "preached hatred." The Italian Fascist press accused the president of playing domestic politics. European democracies, however, praised the speech as one of the most important ones coming from Washington since the World war.

Roosevelt Congress Message Preaches 'Hatred,' Nazis Say; Britain Praises.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The German press scorned President Roosevelt's defense address today, charging it preached "hatred," while the democracies gave praise and one important British newspaper lamented that the "challenging denunciation of dictatorships" was not made by its own head of government.

European officials studied the speech as one of the most important declarations coming from Washington since the World war.

The democracies hoped it was a prelude to major changes in American foreign policy, giving particular attention to the possibility of revision of neutrality legislation.

Both the German Nazi and the Italian Fascist press accused the president of playing domestic politics and of deserting the isolation policy of George Washington.

Some Soviet Russian newspapers, in brief summaries, emphasized points on preparedness against aggression and the neutrality law but omitted passages

DEFICIT OVER 3 BILLIONS

President Advises Against 'Drastic New Taxes,' Favors 'Moderate Increases.'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt asked vast sums for national defense today in a multi-billion dollar budget that projected another deficit and an unprecedented public debt of $44,458,000,000 in 1940.

His annual report to congress on the nation's finances advised emphatically against a "violent contraction" in spending or "drastic new taxes." He opened the way, however, to "moderate tax increases" to meet increased expenditures of $422,000,000 for armament and farm relief costs.

$3,326,343,200 Deficit.

He called for $8,995,663,200 of federal spending in the fiscal year beginning next July 1 and estimated the deficit for that year at $3,326,343,200.

He asked $1,609,000,000 for national defense, including an extra $500,000,000 to speed up the armaments program. Of the latter sum, however, only $210,000,000 would be disbursed next year.

Reiterating the preparedness theme voiced in his annual message to congress yesterday, the president said all are aware "of the grave and unsettling developments in the field of international relations during the past few years."

"Because of the conditions of modern warfare," he continued, "we must now perform in advance tasks that formerly could be postponed until war had become imminent."

Mr. Roosevelt did not specify the form of the suggested new taxes. He recommended continuance of a group of emergency "nuisance" levies scheduled to expire June 30.

LACKS 2 JURORS

State Presses Trial of Prison Warden in 'Baking Deaths.'

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A new panel of veniremen was drawn today to complete a jury which will try Frank A. Craven, 39-year-old former deputy warden of the Philadelphia county prison, on murder charges in the "baking deaths" of four convicts last summer.

The prosecution and defense spent the entire day yesterday and exhausted a panel of 47 in picking the first 10 jurors—six men and four women.

Assistant District Attorney John A. Boyle prepared to make his opening statement and call the first witness immediately after selection of the two remaining jurors.

Craven, first to go on trial of 10 former officials and guards indicted in the deaths, returned to the courtroom with the court's assurance that a first-degree conviction would not be sought.

SPEAKER DISCUSSES DUTCH FRACTUR WORK

E. J. Wessen Talks to Members of Wednesday Study Club on "First Editions" at Home of Mrs. Hartman Yesterday.

THE home of Mrs. E. R. Hartman at 121 Marion avenue was the setting for the meeting yesterday of the Wednesday Study club when Ernest J. Wessen, guest speaker, talked on "First Editions." Mrs. Wessen and Miss Katherine Hartman were the only guests. Tea was served following the meeting from a table decorated with white button chrysanthemums. Mrs. Wallace Campbell poured.

In his talk Mr. Wessen told about some interesting discoveries in antique documents. He told of the Pennsylvania Dutch Fractur work, examples of which he discovered only last week. He showed two simple and quaint drawings in this art of Martha and George Washington which were dated 1790.

The speaker also told of various historical documents and valuable letters, many of which deal with Aaron Burr.

Daughter Succeeds Mother As Noble Grand of Rebekah Lodge

AN UNUSUAL factor marked the installation of officers last night of the Rebekah lodge at the I. O. O. F. hall, when Miss Lois Addelsperger succeeded her mother, Mrs. Maud Addelsperger, to the post of noble grand of the organization.

Other new officers are as follows. Mrs. Faith Stofer, vice noble grand; Mrs. Emma Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. Myra Culp, financial secretary; Mrs. Ruth Domer, treasurer; Mrs. Edna Jenkins, right supporter to the noble grand; Mrs. Ellen Shocker, left supporter to the noble grand; Mrs. Anna Leistensnider, right supporter to the vice grand; Mrs. Beryl Nichols, left supporter to the vice grand; Miss Gertrude Smith, warden; Miss Frances Smith, conductor; Miss Harriett Beck, chaplain; Mrs. Marie Huess, inside guardian; Mrs. Edith Duffey, outside guardian; Mrs. Emma Shocker, musician; Mrs. Della Cochran, deputy president; Mrs. Addelsperger, Mrs. Jenkins and Miss Beck, trustees, and Clyde Clotts, staff captain.

The lodge rooms were attractively decorated with pink and green—the lodge colors. The retiring officers presented Mrs. Addelsperger with a lace table cloth, and the lodge gave her a jewel. The four officers who had perfect attendance records were presented with gifts by the retiring noble grand, and the eight members and officers who had perfect attendance records for the past two years were given gifts by Mrs. Cochran.

At the close of the service luncheon was served to the members. The next meeting will be Jan. 18 preceded by a circle meeting in the afternoon, and a covered-dish dinner at 6 o'clock.

PLANS NIGHT BALL IN CITY IF O. K. WITH FAIR BOARD.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

NIGHT baseball will be played in the city next summer if Norman Cohen takes over the Mansfield franchise in the Ohio State league.

This much was learned this week when the Toledo attorney visited the city to investigate park facilities.

Cohen, who owns an option of the franchise forfeited by the Boston Red Sox, was not particularly pleased with the available park, but indicated a preference for the Fairground, where the Red Sox proteges performed in 1937.

The Toledoan will return to the city this week-end to discuss a rental proposition with the county fair board, and if a suitable arrangement can be reached, he will operate a club in Mansfield.

Of course, night baseball will have to be permitted at the Fairground to bind a lease.

Cohen also plans diamond changes to gain the benefit of the spacious grandstand at the fairground. This can be accomplished by moving the plate to a spot near the dugout on the first base side, he believes.

However, the alteration of the playing field and the erection of a night plant must first be approved by the fair board. But there is no reason to suspect that it will balk at these improvements as the return of organized baseball to the site will increase the revenue of the park.

As clubs which operated under the incandescents in the league last year without financial embarrassment, Cohen believes Mansfield would prove a better city due to its size.

Fremont, for instance, increased its attendance from 8,000 in 1937 to 23,000 last year with night baseball. Findlay and Fostoria played to home crowds virtually as large.

Whether Cohen will obtain an affiliation with a major league club is indefinite. Several propositions have been offered by big league clubs, but none was approved by Cohen.

He would like to operate without major league assistance if possible. Major league working agreements are no longer attractive, he contends, and then there is always the possibility of the better ball players being pulled away from the club to strengthen their teams of higher classification.

The Red Sox did not break up the strong Mansfield club of 1937 by transferring players elsewhere, but many other major league teams make a practice of doing this, we learn.

If Cohen can obtain an agreement whereby no players are recalled until after the close of the season, he might be induced to work with some major league club.

Ohio League Prexy Pleased With City.

ALTHOUGH an attorney by profession, Cohen has been closely associated with baseball through his friendship with Waldo Shank owner of the Toledo Mud Hens, and his brother, Paul, who is secretary-treasurer of the Toledo club and president of the Ohio State league.

The league prexy accompanied Cohen to the city, and appeared pleased with the possibility of night baseball paying a dividend in Mansfield. He stated that if Mansfield enters the circuit, the other berth in a six-team league will be filled by Marion

And if Mansfield and Marion can be induced to return to the fold without any difficulty, Shank said attempts might be made to bring Galion and Lima into an eight-club league.

Fremont, Fostoria and Findlay, which operated under lights last year are set to go, according to Shank Tiffin, which refuses to continue in the league unless it is increased to six teams will be ready if Mansfield and Marion enter. Tiffin is delaying the erection of a night plant until Mansfield and Marion are certain members

BARONS BOW TO HERSHEY AFTER TAKING SIX IN ROW

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The Cleveland Barons today lost their rating as a jinx for the Hershey Bears. After defeating the Bears in six straight International-American Hockey league games this season the Barons finally bowed to the Hersheyites, 5 to 2, at the Arena last night.

The loss left the Clevelanders only one point ahead of the Bears in the western division standings and three points behind the league leaders, the Philadelphia Ramblers, whom the Barons meet at the Arena Saturday night.

X-RAY TO DETERMINE DIZZY DEAN'S CONTRACT

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—The Chicago Cubs will know today whether their most expensive investment—Dizzy Dean—will be an asset or a question mark in the 1939 pennant race.

Results of a new X-ray examination of Diz's $185,000 pitching arm will be announced by doctors who made the check-up yesterday, shortly after Dean arrived here from his Dallas, Tex., home with Mrs. Dean. The outcome of the examination also may determine the trend of salary discussions Dean is expected to have with club officials before he leaves for home.

Lutheran Cagemen Gain Lead

Whip Mayflower After Getting Break on Protest.

BY A quick turn of events, the First Lutheran cagers held the undisputed lead in the Class A Church league game today.

The Lutherans were defeated by the First M. E. quintet last week, but the game was protested on an eligibility rule, and the tilt was ruled "no contest" by the powers that be.

First For Mayflower.

Lutheran-M. E. Game Ruled Out

The protested First Lutheran-First M. E. Class A Church league game, won by the Methodist team, was ruled no contest at a meeting of the executive committee at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Both teams will be awarded victories in the standings, with a play-off being played if necessary later in the season, D. D. Cram, physical director of the Y, said today.

The question arose over Herbert Hazlett, who was believed to have been ineligible to play with the Methodists. In the future, Cram said, all players added to lineups must be approved by the executive committee before they are eligible.

while First M. E., the other unbeaten club in the circuit, was taken into camp by Central M. E., 20 to 16.

The Lutheran-Mayflower game was a spectacular battle in which the result was in doubt until the final whistle. The two teams fought to a standstill for three quarters, and then with only three Mayflower players on the court because of personal foul ousters, the Lutherans put on a spurt to triumph.

Reichert led the Lutherans, who led 11 to 10 at the half, with 12 points. The score was tied 14-all at the end of the third period.

The First M. E. quintet never led as it bowed to Central M. E. The Central cagers, led by Smeltzer and Irvine, grabbed a 7 to 4 lead in the first period, led 13 to 9 at the half and 16 to 9 going into the fourth frame.

Win On Rally.

The Park Avenue Baptists erased a big deficit with a second half rally to defeat Episcopal 17 to 16. The Baptists trailed 10 to 6 at the intermission, and did not overtake the Episcopals until the final period

Temple Emanuel jumpedl into a 7 to 1 lead in the first quarter and never trailed as it whipped St. John, 30 to 23. Temple led 13 to 8 at the half Lerner led the winners with 15 points. Augustine contributed 10 to the losers' total.

Added to Card Slated Friday

Davis, Stratton to Mix on Armory Canvas.

Sterling Davis, reformed Texas badman, and Walter Stratton, powerful young light-heavyweight from Letonia, have been added to the wrestling program slated for action in the Armory on Friday night. They will oppose each other in two fall, one hour time limit match, the bout to occupy the semi-final notch on the card which sends Frank Sexton against Cleve Welch.

Davis is the personified paradox of modern wrestling. Last season he roared through the midwest, exhibiting the roughest, toughest style of grappling witnessed in this section Now he's back again, but all the old fire is gone. "Mr." Davis has even dyed his hair to complete the rehabilitation and wrestles as cleanly as a Sunday-school student under the watchful eyes of the parish parson.

Stratton, recently defeated by Everett "Silent" Rattan, will be a dangerous foe for Davis.

Sammy Snead Earns $19,534 In Purses

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Warming up for the first major tournament of the New Year today, the nation's pro golfers foresaw a long road ahead to beat the earning record chalked up by slamming Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., in 1938.

Snead collected $19,534.49 in purse money from the tournaments of the year just closed, according to records of the professional golfers association. Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., was a poor second with $9,553 33 and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., was third with $8,050.34.

Donks Invade Ontario Court

Carry Cagers in Two Games Billed Saturday.

Two games of donkey basketball will be presented at Ontario high school Saturday night as preliminaries to the meeting between the Ontario Sohioans and the Ashland Rambler team.

One of the games involving the donkeys will pit the faculty against the Misfits. Two teams of former Ontario high players will guide the donks in the other tilt. So as not to mar the floor, the donkeys wear rubber shoes.

The faculty team will consist of D. D. Rummel, Earl Hetrick, George Steele and L. C. Stingel, superintendent. Robert Baker, Don Geiger, Orie Rush, John Hunter, Dale Berry and Glenn Miller will perform with the Misfits.

Former Ontario players to take part in the other games include Bob Bogantz, Henry Bookwalter, Bob Fink, Jim Elliott, Nick Zeigler, Harold Marshall, Ray Friday, Kenny Dent, Don and Lawrence Smith and Leroy Bookwalter.

T. C. U. NOT INTERESTED IN GAME WITH VOLUNTEERS

FORT WORTH, Tex—(INS)—The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university are through with football until next fall. That was the word today from Coach Dutch Meyer in answer to nibbles about staging a game for the "national championship" between the Sugar Bowl winners and the Volunteers of Tennessee, victors in Miami's Orange bowl.

"Let's forget about football for a while," said Meyer. "Anyways, it is time the boys begin to think a little bit about their studies."

PRACTICE GAMES SOUGHT BY MANSFIELD RESERVES

High school and amateur basketball teams wishing practice games with the Mansfield high reserves are urged to contact Assistant Coach Harry Mehock. Mehock may be reached at Canal 4657 during school hours.

Budge Makes It Two Straight Over Vines.

BOSTON—(U.P.)—Don Budge, former world's amateur tennis champion, was heading for Philadelphia today with two match victories over Ellsworth Vines, professional titlist.

The amateur king was invincible in his second professional engagement last night as he smashed out a 6-3, 8-6, 6-4 win over Vines. The night before he handed Vines a defeat in his professional debut in New York.

Cuemen, Cigars Head Cage Program

Rex Courtiers Seek Sixth Straight Win Tonight.

The Rex Billiards are still the team to beat as the teams prepared for the second round of play in the Senior A league at the Friendly House tonight.

The cuemen go into their game with the Musille Cigars tonight with five victories dangling from their belts. They have yet to taste defeat.

The Billiards probably will find the Musille quintet stronger than in their first meeting, but are favored to hang up another triumph.

Tygers Drill For Saturday

Seek Revenge Over West on Home Court.

Vigorous drills were resumed on the practice court at Mansfield high school this week in preparation for Saturday night's invasion of Cleveland West.

This is one of the most important games on the Tygers' schedule as it was the Cleveland quintet which handed Coach Russ Murphy's men the first of their three defeats this season.

Whether Mansfield will be able to avenge the defeat on the home court Saturday remains to be seen, but if the Tygers lose again it will not be because of a lack of condition.

Murphy has stressed improvement in passing in drills this week and he believes the Tygers are showing better in this department. It was their ball handling which was sloppy in their last game in which they trimmed Erie, Pa., Strong Vincent.

Win or lose, the Cleveland club is expected to show Mansfield cage followers one of the finest offensive machines to visit the Tyger lair this year.

West showed all kinds of class as it toppled the Tygers, 38 to 37, in an overtime game on the Cleveland court several weeks ago.

SANTA ANITA HANDICAP MAY NOT SEE STAGEHAND

MIAMI—(U.P.)—Stagehand may run in the $50,000 Widener Challenge Cup at Hialeah park instead of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap which he won last year in California, it was indicated today. Col. Maxwell Howard owner of the four-year-old, said he was "inclined to think" his money-winning champion of 1938 would pass up the Santa Anita race. He added, however, that "My trainer Earl Sande, will decide whether Stagehand will run here or on the coast."

Jack Dempsey Offers Jess Lift Back Up

By HENRY SUPER

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The right hand which smashed Jess Willard to the canvas 20 years ago and took his world's heavyweight championship, was extended across the country to him today in a spirit of gratitude and helpfulness.

It was the hand of Jack Dempsey, once the weapon of a ring killer, now the well manicured asset of a prosperous businessman. It went out to old Jess, whom it left groggy in a Toledo ring that June afternoon in 1919, because its owner had heard that the big Kansan was down on his luck and needed a "lift back up."

Promised Job.

In a letter Willard was invited to come to New York and enter one of the various Dempsey enterprises. He was promised a profitable job—"profitable for both of us."

Jack's letter was addressed to Glendale, Calif., where Willard reportedly has had his most recent business reverse. It was prompted by a gab-fest in Dempsey's Eighth avenue restaurant in which the memorial Toledo fight was discussed. "Whatever became of old Jess?" somebody asked.

Dempsey didn't know. But an oldtimer said he had heard big Jess was on his uppers. And so today, after a quiet inquiry by its writer, Dempsey's letter was in the mail.

"I can sympathize with him," Dempsey said. "I blew a couple of million myself before I got going. Jess it a great fellow. I owe him a lot Maybe we can cook up something.

"He gave me my first break. He'd been out of the ring for a couple of years, but when I came up as challenger he didn't try to give me the run-around."

Since that battle many ring critics have cast aspersions on Willard's ability.

Jess Undefeated.

"Jess is the most underrated man who ever held the title," businessman Dempsey said. "He could knock you dead with a right uppercut. He hit me with one in the second round at Toledo and it stunned me. It didn't land on the button, but if it had, it might be a different story today. Willard was no palooka champ."

Athletic Stars With Henie Show

This array of athletic talent is included among the 100 skating dancers who appear with Sonja Henie in the new 1939 edition of the Hollywood Ice Revue, coming to the Cleveland Arena for five nights starting Tuesday, Jan. 10.

The world's champion figure skater, of course, is none other than Sonja herself. Her partner being Stewart Reburn, who was runner-up to the 1936 Olympic winner. George Stewart, Lloyd Carlos, Jimmy Sisk, Bob Ridgeway, Bob Weldon, Byron Poindexter and Jimmy Caesar, who is also a boxer, are the hocky players in the cast. All of them played for West Coast universities. Reeder Boss is the tennis player of distinction.

Lexington Next Foe for Lucas

UNDEFEATED in seven games, Butler high school's Bulldogs will attempt to resume their 1938-1939 campaign in a spectacular fashion on their home court Friday after a brief holiday layoff.

Coach Bob Burgett's hoopsters engage the defending champion Ontario quintet, and the victory odds will again be in their favor.

But the Butler boys may run into a tartar in the Ontario club, which has been showing improvement in each performance. However, Butler, with the advantage of its own floor, should be difficult to topple.

The Warriors from Springfield township were taken into camp by Lucas in their opener by a good-sized margin, but forced Madison to rally in the fourth period to win the second game.

Loses in Overtime.

Ontario dropped a one-point overtime decision to Lexington in the next game, and walloped Bellville in its last game before the holidays. Butler, in the meantime, was forced to the limit in games with Amity and Union.

It will take smart defensive play to halt the Butlerites. Wendall Hall and Kenny Miller are two of the leading scorers in the county. The former is the present scoring leader in the county, with Miller again hitting a fast pace after a slow start.

Ontario has its own scoring threat in the veteran Matz Hager, who again holds down the center berth.

Lucas and Lexington clash at Lexington in the only other county league game on schedule Friday night, and this meeting should develop into another interesting affray.

Al Axe's Lucasmen have won three games and lost the same number, the setbacks coming on margins of one, three and four points. Lucas trampled Hayesville, 56 to 16, in its last appearance.

Lucas presents a strong offensive front with Tom Greulich and Bob Crawford the spearheads.

Lexington has won only two out of five games, but cannot be disregarded in the race at this early date. It dropped a two-point decision in an overtime game to Madison, undefeated in the league, in its last tilt.

Another important game involving county schools will be staged Friday at Shiloh, where the Drummer Boys are hosts to the unbeaten Plymouth Tigers. This is a Twin-Valley league encounter

Plymouth has registered six straight victories with apparent ease. The only difficulty the Tigers encountered this season came in their last game when their margin of victory over Tiro was only seven points. Shiloh has won three games and lost two.

Shiloh is also scheduled Saturday night. It will invade Union, where it will attempt to even the score with the Indians. Union won over Shiloh, 18 to 14, in a game earlier this season.

Madison, which bowed to Logan, 20 to 19 last Saturday, and Bellville are not scheduled this week.

Seeks Second Win.

Shelby, another county representative, plays at Bucyrus in an N. C. O. tussle Friday. The Whippets registered their first victory of the season at the close of last year when they upset the heretofore unbeaten Mt. Vernon team.

Mt. Vernon plays at Ashland and Marion at Galion in other N. C. O. contests. Ashland plays at Sandusky Saturday, while Columbus West performs at Mt. Vernon. Crestline plays at Tiffin Calvert Friday.

Kallmerten-Baer Team To Meet Friday Night.

A meeting of members of the Kallmerten & Baer semi-pro football team will be held at the Beeber-Ross restaurant at 7:30 p. m. Friday. Business Manager Johnny Villella announced today. Villella requests all players to return uniforms on the night of the meeting.

Foxx Demands Big Increase

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—Jimmy Foxx, selected as the most valuable player in the American league in 1938, today revealed that he intends demanding a big increase in the purported $20,000-a-year salary he now receives from the Boston Red Sox.

In fact, the slugger believes he deserves the highest salary in the league and is toying with a $40,000 figure, the value he claims Connie Mack placed on him while he was with the Athletics.

"I led the league in almost every department, so why shouldn't I get more dough?" asked Jimmy. "Lou Gehrig was the top man in money when he was top hitter," Foxx recalled. "On that basis, I ought to get the largest pay check in 1939 for the work I did in 1938."

Ashland Seeks Fourth Conference Win Tonight

By JIM EMERSON

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Two "home town" products and two sophomore importations from basketball-famous Indiana were co-operating today to lift Ashland college from the depths of the Ohio conference basketball standings.

The new basketball blood, smartly coached by Tony Lonero, a graduate from Ashland high school coaching ranks himself, has swept the Eagles through three conference and one non-conference games in December without defeat and waved a serious challenge that they will be a factor in the current championship scramble.

Tonight the rejuvenated Eagles who won only five conference games in the three preceding seasons invade the court of Heidelberg's Student Princes at Tiffin in quest of their fourth league victory after a three-week layoff from competition.

Chief motivation for the resumed drive will be supplied by Bob Sprague, forward, Virgil Scobey, center, both alumni of Ashland high, and Jim Richcreek, forward, and Bob Shively, from Nappanee, Ind., where they were teammates for three years.

Richcreek, a five-foot, eight-inch flash of speed, Sprague and Scobey have scored 134 points between them in the Eagles' four appearances to date. This is nearly two-thirds of Ashland's total of 198 points. Sprague, all-North Central Ohio forward while in high school, turned in the best single performance with 18 points against Ohio Northern.

Lonero has developed a squad of accurate passers and fast-breaking shooters who waste few of their point-making chances. Against Kenyon, the Eagles made good on 40 per cent of their shots while 31 per cent tallied against Northern.

A second conference meeting tonight matches Wooster against Otterbein at Westerville.

Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio U. knock off the Buckeye conference lid in a game at Athens that promises to be a scoring carnival. The invading Bishops have averaged 49 points in winning six out of nine starts while the Bobcats have averaged 53 points in winning four and losing two games.

Other contests find Cincinnati at Miami and Wilmington at Wilberforce.

Akron rang up its fifth conquest feating Lawrence Tech, 46 to 34, without defeat last night by de- Western Reserve dropped its third consecutive game when the Red Cats lost to the Nittany Lions of Penn State, 36 to 24, to complete a two-game road trip.

Hipp, Applan Hang Up Record

Former Shoots Brilliant 753 Total to Account for New Individual Mark.

FARRELL HIPP blasted the uprights for a record-breaking 753 series in the City Class a Doubles league at the Meder alleys last night.

Hipp and his partner, Jack Applan, who shot a 671, compiled a 1424 total to establish a new season record in this department, too.

Hipp's mineralite collected scores of 258, 268 and 227 as he and his partner added three victories at the expense of Fred McKinley and Mike Meder with games of 458, 482 and 484.

Applan put together games of 200, 214 and 257 in the record-breaking string.

Cliff Forsythe walloped the wood for a 674 total, which was rolled from games of 215, 220 and 239, and he and his partner, Joe Cheney, took two decisions from Burdett and Sonny Meder, who whipped up a 172-247-222—641. The Forsythe-Cheney duo rolled a 1234.

Carl Heilman and Dale Cleckner took two games from Neil Swank and Gene Funston. Swank was high in the match with a 612.

GREEN BAY STARS WIN PRO SCORING HONORS

CHICAGO—(INS)—Two Green Bay Packers were named today as the leading scorers in the national professional football league.

Fullback Clarke Hinkle topped the list with seven touchdowns and seven points after touchdown plus three field goals for a total of fifty-eight points. Right behind him came the Packers' stellar end, Don Hutson who snagged nine touchdown passes and kicked three points after them for an aggregate of fifty-seven points.

Nova Has Yet to Beat Somebody

LOU NOVA . . . looks ahead to Joe Louis.

By BILL BRAUCHER,
Central Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK—Some of my confreres have steamed themselves into a well-cooked condition concerning the heavyweight championship possibilities of Lou Nova, who shellacked Tommy Farr into a semi-comatose state the other night in the Garden.

It is being said, with the characteristic conservatism of New York boxing writers, that the business of meeting and beating Joe Louis is just a formalty and the supremacy of the white race is re-established.

Cantelopes and Sophomores.

But my Aunt Emma always told me to be suspicious about cantelopes, sophomore halfbacks and cauliflowers who have had only 27 fights. I'd like to see Mr. Nova beat somebody before and we've always been just a shade skeptical about gridders in the ring. Three years age he won the San Francisco Golden Gloves competition. He won the national amateur title in St. Louis, went to Paris and won the internationals. His present manager, Ray Carlin, bought him from Ham Larimer for $1,000.

The only fight he has lost was to Maxie Rosenbloom, which shouldn't be marked too black against him, for Rosie has slapped a lot of good ones around.

We would like to see how he fares with Baer, however—or such an up-and-coming young battler as Billy Conn—before composing our hymn.

I start twanging my bass fiddle in his behalf. Yes, he beat Farr badly, but that's only par for the course. I couldn't give him better than 72 on that round, even though he did have the Welshman in a bad way. Farr happens to be one of those fighters who makes a stirring success of losing fights.

If they throw him in there with Max Baer, as they threaten, and he comes out maimed no worse than he is now, then we can look up Mistah Louis' telephone number again.

Glancing over the paens of praise penned after he flailed Farr, we note that he is a "damaging hitter with either hand." That might be amended by a clause "when he's not missing." Farr made him miss a couple of hundred swings. Sure, he's young—but just as sure, he misses. Farr was more than holding his own with the young man from Alameda. Lou will be 24 next March.

Like Tunney?

One of that more rabid resin sniffers of the Fourth Estate pecked out a few thousand words to the general effect that Nova has everything that Gene Tunney had, plus something that Tunney didn't have—a viciousness and willingness to mix it at all times. It sounds just a little confusing to this observer. Tunney never got to the top by patting shoulders. Those who remember the slashed face of Dempsey on the morning after in Philadelphia aren't so willing to concede that Gene lacked anything in savagery though it is true he didn't go out there and throw a lot of wild, aimless swings.

Perhaps what is meant is that Lou has everything Gene had in the way of arms and legs—and what he has got that Tunney lacked is a bashed-in nose. All our mistake.

But let's leave the cold water department for the nonce, and see if it's all really as bad as all that. While we're not ready to consider a championship fight for Lou this afternoon, it is true that he has come along all right so far, except that he played football at Sacramento Junior college.

Galento Seeks Go With Nova

Offers to Fight Without Purse, But If He Wins . . ?

NEW YORK—(INS)—In one of the boldest challenges since the days when good old John L. was threatening to lick any so-and-so in the house, Tony Galento, the well-known beer keg on legs, hereby goes on record as being willing to fight Lou Nova free of charge. He will even pay his own transportation from his Orange, N. J., tavern to the scene of the encounter for the privilege of meeting the young Californian.

All this and more was said today in behalf of Galento by his manager, Joe Jacobs. The specific otter herewith presented by Jacobs for publication with the promise that Galento would go through with it if the match with Nova could be arranged is:

A 10 or 15 round fight at Madison Square Garden or elsewhere in February or March on a winner-take-all basis. If Galento can't win he doesn't want or expect and won't accept a dime. If he does win, he wants both purses, this being the one catch in the proposition.

Moreover, Joe Jacobs is ready to discuss the matter with Promoter Mike Jacobs at the latter's convenience. In fact, he already has done what he can toward landing the match by communicating by long distance with Mike at Miami, where the latter currently is hibernating.

VON CRAMM TO RETIRE FROM TOURNAMENT PLAY

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Baron Gottfried Von Cramm of Germany, one of the world's foremost amateur tennis players, is retiring from tournament competition, Don Budge says.

With Von Cramm out of the Davis cup picture, Budge predicted that Australia again will be the United States' most formidable rival in the International Trophy competition next year. Big blond Von Cramm, runner-up to Budge at Wimbledon, Eng., and Forest Hills in 1937, was recently released from prison by Nazi authorities.

RENEW OLD FEUD

NEW YORK—(INS)—The old Glenn Cunningham-Gene Venzke feud will be renewed at the annual Columbus Council K. of C. meet Saturday.

HE'LL QUIT SOME DAY

The Yankees will continue to break in Outfielder Tommy Henrich as a first baseman next season, working against the day Lou Gehrig calls it a day.

No 'Big Time' Foes On Reserve's Card

CLEVELAND— (U.P.) —Western Reserve, Ohio's only undefeated and untied football team last fall, must wait until at least 1940 before realizing its ambition for a shot at "Big Time" opposition.

The 1939 Red Cat's schedule, released today, disclosed the same caliber of opposition as played in 1938. Dayton and Kent State will be 1939 replacements for West Virginia and Youngstown met last fall. The 1939 card:

Sept. 30, Dayton, here; Oct. 7, Ohio U., there; Oct. 14, Boston U., there; Oct. 21, Baldwin-Wallace; Oct. 28, Cincinnati, here; Nov. 4, Ohio Wesleyan, here; Nov. 11, Kent State, here; Nov. 18, John Carroll; Nov. 30, Case.

PLANS NIGHT BALL IN CITY IF O. K. WITH FAIR BOARD.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

NIGHT baseball will be played in the city next summer if Norman Cohen takes over the Mansfield franchise in the Ohio State league.

This much was learned this week when the Toledo attorney visited the city to investigate park facilities.

Cohen, who owns an option of the franchise forfeited by the Boston Red Sox, was not particularly pleased with the available park, but indicated a preference for the Fairground, where the Red Sox proteges performed in 1937.

The Toledoan will return to the city this week-end to discuss a rental proposition with the county fair board, and if a siutable arrangement can be reached, he will operate a club in Mansfield.

Of course, night baseball will have to be permitted at the Fairground to bind a lease.

Cohen also plans diamond changes to gain the benefit of the spacious grandstand at the fairground. This can be accomplished by moving the plate to a spot near the dugout on the first base side, he believes.

However, the alteration of the playing field and the erection of a night plant must first be approved by the fair board. But there is no reason to suspect that it will balk at these improvements as the return of organized baseball to the site will increase the revenue of the park.

As clubs which operated under the incandescents in the league last year without financial embarrassment, Cohen believes Mansfield would prove a better city due to its size.

Fremont, for instance, increased its attendance from 8,000 in 1937 to 23,000 last year with night baseball. Findlay and Fostoria played to home crowds virtually as large.

Whether Cohen will obtain an affiliation with a major league club is indefinite. Several propositions have been offered by big league clubs, but none was approved by Cohen.

He would like to operate without major league assistance if possible. Major league working agreements are no longer attractive, he contends, and then there is always the possibility of the better ball players being pulled away from the club to strengthen their teams of higher classification.

The Red Sox did not break up the strong Mansfield club of 1937 by transferring players elsewhere, but many other major league teams make a practice of doing this, we learn.

If Cohen can obtain an agreement whereby no players are recalled until after the close of the season, he might be induced to work with some major league club.

Ohio League Prexy Pleased With City.

ALTHOUGH an attorney by profession, Cohen has been closely associated with baseball through his friendship with Waldo Shank, owner of the Toledo Mud Hens, and his brother, Paul, who is secretary-treasurer of the Toledo club and president of the Ohio State league.

The league prexy accompanied Cohen to the city, and appeared pleased with the possibility of night baseball paying a dividend in Mansfield. He stated that if Mansfield enters the circuit, the other berth in a six-team league will be filled by Marion.

And if Mansfield and Marion can be induced to return to the fold without any difficulty, Shank said attempts might be made to bring Galion and Lima into an eight-club league.

Fremont, Fostoria and Findlay, which operated under lights last year are set to go according to Shank. Tiffin, which refuses to continue in the league unless it is increased to six teams will be ready if Mansfield and Marion enter. Tiffin is delaying the election of a night plant until Mansfield and Marion are certain members.

BARONS BOW TO HERSHEY AFTER TAKING SIX IN ROW

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The Cleveland Barons today lost their rating as a jinx for the Hershey Bears. After defeating the Bears in six straight International-American Hockey league games this season the Barons finally bowed to the Hershevites, 5 to 2 at the Arena last night.

The loss left the Clevelanders only one point ahead of the Bears in the western division standings and three points behind the league leaders, the Philadelphia Ramblers, whom the Barons meet at the Arena Saturday night.

X-RAY TO DETERMINE DIZZY DEAN'S CONTRACT

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—The Chicago Cubs will know today whether their most expensive investment—Dizzy Dean—will be an asset or a question mark in the 1939 pennant race.

Results of a new X-ray examination of Diz's $185,000 pitching arm will be announced by doctors who made the check-up yesterday, shortly after Dean arrived here from his Dallas, Tex., home with Mrs. Dean. The outcome of the examination also may determine the trend of salary discussions Dean is expected to have with club officials before he leaves for home.

Lutheran Cagemen Gain Lead

Whip Mayflower After Getting Break on Protest.

BY A quick turn of events, the First Lutheran cagers held the undisputed lead in the Class A Church league game today.

The Lutherans were defeated by the First M. E. quintet last week, but the game was protested on an eligibility rule, and the tilt was ruled "no contest" by the powers that be.

First For Mayflower.

Last night the Lutherans handed the Mayflower Congregationals their first defeat, 28 to 24, to keep their record unmarked, while First M. E., the other unbeaten club in the circuit, was taken into camp by Central M. E., 20 to 16.

The Lutheran-Mayflower game was a spectacular battle in which the result was in doubt until the final whistle. The two teams fought to a standstill for three quarters, and then with only three Mayflower players on the court because of personal foul ousters, the Lutherans put on a spurt to triumph.

Reichert led the Lutherans, who led 11 to 10 at the half, with 12 points. The score was tied 14-all at the end of the third period.

The First M. E. quintet never led as it bowed to Central M. E. The Central cagers, led by Smeltzer and Irvine, grabbed a 7 to 4 lead in the first period, led 13 to 9 at the half and 16 to 9 going into the fourth frame.

Win On Rally.

The Park Avenue Baptists erased a big deficit with a second half rally to defeat Episcopal, 17 to 16. The Baptists trailed 10 to 6 at the intermission, and did not overtake the Episcopals until the final period.

Temple Emanuel jumped into a 7 to 1 lead in the first quarter and never trailed as it whipped St. John, 30 to 23. Temple led 13 to 8 at the half. Lerner led the winners with 15 points. Augustine contributed 10 to the losers' total.

BROOKLYN CLOSES DEAL FOR OUTFIELDER SINGTON

NEW YORK—(UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today said they had completed transactions in the purchase of Outfielder Fred Sington. Sington was obtained from Chattanooga of the Southern association last fall on a conditional basis. He joined the Dodgers late in the season and batted .358 for 17 games. The Dodgers sent a final cash payment to Chattanooga and also released Pitcher John Chambers to that team.

Lutheran-M. E. Game Ruled Out

The protested First Lutheran-First M. E. Class A Church league game, won by the Methodist team, was ruled no contest at a meeting of the executive committee at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Both teams will be awarded victories in the standings, with a play-off being played if necessary later in the season, D. D. Cram, physical director of the Y, said today.

The question arose over Herbert Hazlett, who was believed to have been ineligible to play with the Methodists. In the future, Cram said, all players added to lineups must be approved by the executive committee before they are eligible.

Added to Card Slated Friday

Davis, Stratton to Mix on Armory Canvas.

Sterling Davis, reformed Texas badman, and Walter Stratton, powerful young light-heavyweight from Letonia, have been added to the wrestling program slated for action in the Armory on Friday night. They will oppose each other in two fall, one hour time limit match, the bout to occupy the semi-final notch on the card which sends Frank Sexton against Cleve Welch.

Davis is the personified paradox of modern wrestling. Last season he roared through the midwest, exhibiting the roughest, toughest style of grappling witnessed in this section. Now he's back again, but all the old fire is gone. "Mr." Davis has even dyed his hair to complete the rehabilitation and wrestles as cleanly as a Sunday-school student under the watchful eyes of the parish parson.

Stratton, recently defeated by Everett "Silent" Rattan, will be a dangerous foe for Davis.

Featuring the menu will be Frank Sexton's defense of the Ohio heavyweight title against Welch. Sexton returns here after an absence of three years.

Indians, Giants Announce Series

NEW YORK—(UP)—The New York Giants today announced a schedule of 21 exhibition baseball games for the spring training season.

The schedule includes: March 25-26, Cleveland Indians at Baton Rouge and the Indians April 1-2 at New Orleans; April 10 through 16, Cleveland at: Monroe, La.; Ft. Smith, Ark.; Greenville, Miss.; Knoxville, Tenn; Richmond, Va., and two games at New York, in that order.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A 24-game training season schedule was announced today by the Cleveland Indians. Pitchers and catchers will report at the New Orleans training camp March 1 and the rest of the squad four days later.

Sammy Snead Earns $19,534 In Purses

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Warming up for the first major tournament of the New Year today, the nation's pro golfers foresaw a long road ahead to beat the earning record chalked up by slamming Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., in 1938.

Snead collected $19,534.49 in purse money from the tournaments of the year just closed, according to records of the professional golfers association. Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., was a poor second with $9,553.33 and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., was third with $8,050.34.

Donks Invade Ontario Court

Carry Cagers in Two Games Billed Saturday.

Two games of donkey basketball will be presented at Ontario high school Saturday night as preliminaries to the meeting between the Ontario Sohioans and the Ashland Rambler team.

One of the games involving the donkeys will pit the faculty against the Misfits. Two teams of former Ontario high players will guide the donks in the other tilt. So as not to mar the floor, the donkeys wear rubber shoes.

The faculty team will consist of D. D. Rummel, Earl Hetrick, George Steele and L. C. Stingel, superintendent. Robert Baker, Don Geiger, Orie Rush, John Hunter, Dale Berry and Glenn Miller will perform with the Misfits.

Former Ontario players to take part in the other games include Bob Bogantz, Henry Bookwalter, Bob Fink, Jim Elliott, Nick Zeigler, Harold Marshall, Ray Friday, Kenny Dent, Don and Lawrence Smith and Leroy Bookwalter.

T. C. U. NOT INTERESTED IN GAME WITH VOLUNTEERS

FORT WORTH, Tex—(INS)—The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university are through with football until next fall. That was the word today from Coach Dutch Meyer in answer to nibbles about staging a game for the "national championship" between the Sugar Bowl winners and the Volunteers of Tennessee, victors in Miami's Orange bowl.

"Let's forget about football for a while," said Meyer. "Anyways, it is time the boys begin to think a little bit about their studies."

Budge Makes It Two Straight Over Vines.

BOSTON—(U.P.)—Don Budge, former world's amateur tennis champion, was heading for Philadelphia today with two match victories over Ellsworth Vines, professional titlist.

The amateur king was invincible in his second professional engagement last night as he smashed out a 6-3, 8-6, 6-4 win over Vines. The night before he handed Vines a defeat in his professional debut in New York.

Cuemen, Cigars Head Cage Program

Rex Courtiers Seek Sixth Straight Win Tonight.

The Rex Billiards are still the team to beat as the teams prepared for the second round of play in the Senior A league at the Friendly House tonight.

The cuemen go into their game with the Musille Cigars tonight with five victories dangling from their belts. They have yet to taste defeat.

The Billiards probably will find the Musille quintet stronger than in their first meeting, but are favored to hang up another triumph.

Tygers Drill For Saturday

Seek Revenge Over West on Home Court.

Vigorous drills were resumed on the practice court at Mansfield high school this week in preparation for Saturday night's invasion of Cleveland West.

This is one of the most important games on the Tygers' schedule as it was the Cleveland quintet which handed Coach Russ Murphy's men the first of their three defeats this season.

Whether Mansfield will be able to avenge the defeat on the home court Saturday remains to be seen, but if the Tygers lose again it will not be because of a lack of condition.

Murphy has stressed improvement in passing in drills this week and he believes the Tygers are showing better in this department. It was their ball handling which was sloppy in their last game in which they trimmed Erie, Pa., Strong Vincent.

Win or lose, the Cleveland club is expected to show Mansfield cage followers one of the finest offensive machines to visit the Tyger lair this year.

West showed all kinds of class as it toppled the Tygers, 38 to 37, in an overtime game on the Cleveland court several weeks ago.

REDS STINGY WITH GOALS AS THEY TURN BACK CUBS

Permitting only one field goal, the Reds, led by Zivkoff's 10 points, routed the Cubs, 23 to 4, in a Rangers club league game at the Friendly House yesterday. The Yankees won over the Giants, 14 to 9, in the other game.

SANTA ANITA HANDICAP MAY NOT SEE STAGEHAND

MIAMI—(U.P.)—Stagehand may run in the $50,000 Widener Challenge Cup at Hialeah park instead of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap which he won last year in California, it was indicated today. Col. Maxwell Howard owner of the four-year-old, said he was "inclined to think" his money-winning champion of 1938 would pass up the Santa Anita race. He added, however, that "My trainer Earl Sande, will decide whether Stagehand will run here or on the coast."

Jack Dempsey Offers Jess Lift Back Up

By HENRY SUPER

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The right hand which smashed Jess Willard to the canvas 20 years ago and took his world's heavyweight championship, was extended across the country to him today in a spirit of gratitude and helpfulness.

It was the hand of Jack Dempsey, once the weapon of a ring killer, now the well manicured asset of a prosperous businessman. It went out to old Jess, whom it left groggy in a Toledo ring that June afternoon in 1919, because its owner had heard that the big Kansan was down on his luck and needed a "lift back up."

Promised Job.

In a letter Willard was invited to come to New York and enter one of the various Dempsey enterprises. He was promised a profitable job—"profitable for both of us."

Jack's letter was addressed to Glendale, Calif., where Willard reportedly has had his most recent business reverse. It was prompted by a gab-fest in Dempsey's Eighth avenue restaurant in which the memorial Toledo fight was discussed. "Whatever became of old Jess?" somebody asked.

Dempsey didn't know. But an oldtimer said he had heard big Jess was on his uppers. And so today, after a quiet inquiry by its writer, Dempsey's letter was in the mail.

"I can sympathize with him," Dempsey said. "I blew a couple of million myself before I got going. Jess it a great fellow. I owe him a lot. Maybe we can cook up something.

"He gave me my first break. He'd been out of the ring for a couple of years, but when I came up as challenger he didn't try to give me the run-around."

Since that battle many ring critics have cast aspersions on Willard's ability.

Jess Undefeated.

"Jess is the most underrated man who ever held the title," businessman Dempsey said. "He could knock you dead with a right upercut. He hit me with one in the second round at Toledo and it stunned me. It didn't land on the button, but if it had, it might be a different story today. Willard was no palooka champ."

This array of athletic talent is included among the 100 skating dancers who appear with Sonja Henie in the new 1939 edition of the Hollywood Ice Revue, coming to the Cleveland Arena for five nights starting Tuesday, Jan. 10.

The world's champion figure skater, of course, is none other than Sonja herself. Her partner being Stewart Reburn, who was runner-up to the 1936 Olympic winner. George Stewart, Lloyd Carlos, Jimmy Sisk, Bob Ridgeway, Bob Weldon, Byron Poindexter and Jimmy Caesar, who is also a boxer, are the hocky players in the cast. All of them played for West Coast universities. Reeder Boss is the tennis player of distinction.

JIMMY WILSON ILL

Lexington Next Foe for Lucas

UNDEFEATED in seven games, Butler high school's Bulldogs will attempt to resume their 1938-1939 campaign in a spectacular fashion on their home court Friday after a brief holiday layoff.

Coach Bob Burgett's hoopsters engage the defending champion Ontario quintet, and the victory odds will again be in their favor.

But the Butler boys may run into a tartar in the Ontario club, which has been showing improvement in each performance. However, Butler, with the advantage of its own floor, should be difficult to topple.

The Warriors from Springfield township were taken into camp by Lucas in their opener by a good-sized margin, but forced Madison to rally in the fourth period to win the second game.

Loses in Overtime.

Ontario dropped a one-point overtime decision to Lexington in the next game, and walloped Bellville in its last game before the holidays. Butler, in the meantime, was forced to the limit in games with Amity and Union.

It will take smart defensive play to halt the Butlerites. Wendall Hall and Kenny Miller are two of the leading scorers in the county. The former is the present scoring leader in the county, with Miller again hitting a fast pace after a slow start.

Ontario has its own scoring threat in the veteran Matz Hager, who again holds down the center berth.

Lucas and Lexington clash at Lexington in the only other county league game on schedule Friday night, and this meeting should develop into another interesting affray.

Al Axe's Lucasmen have won three games and lost the same number, the setbacks coming on margins of one, three and four points. Lucas trampled Hayesville, 56 to 16, in its last appearance.

Lucas presents a strong offensive front with Tom Greulich and Bob Crawford the spearheads.

Lexington has won only two out of five games, but cannot be disregarded in the race at this early date. It dropped a two-point decision in an overtime game to Madison, undefeated in the league, in its last tilt.

Another important game involving county schools will be staged Friday at Shiloh, where the Drummer Boys are hosts to the unbeaten Plymouth Tigers. This is a Twin-Valley league encounter.

Plymouth has registered six straight victories with apparent ease. The only difficulty the Tigers encountered this season came in their last game when their margin of victory over Tiro was only seven points. Shiloh has won three games and lost two.

Shiloh is also scheduled Saturday night. It will invade Union, where it will attempt to even the score with the Indians. Union won over Shiloh, 18 to 14, in a game earlier this season.

Madison, which bowed to Logan, 20 to 19, last Saturday, and Bellville are not scheduled this week.

Seeks Second Win.

Shelby, another county representative, plays at Bucyrus in an N. C. O. tussle Friday. The Whippets registered their first victory of the season at the close of last year when they upset the heretofore unbeaten Mt. Vernon team.

Mt Vernon plays at Ashland and Marion at Galion in other N. C. O. contests. Ashland plays at Sandusky Saturday, while Columbus West performs at Mt. Vernon. Crestline plays at Tiffin Calvert Friday.

Kallmerten-Baer Team To Meet Friday Night.

A meeting of members of the Kallmerten & Baer semi-pro football team will be held at the Beeber-Ross restaurant at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Business Manager Johnny Villella announced today. Villella requests all players to return uniforms on the night of the meeting.

Foxx Demands Big Increase

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—Jimmy Foxx, selected as the most valuable player in the American league in 1938, today revealed that he intends demanding a big increase in the purported $20,000-a-year salary he now receives from the Boston Red Sox.

In fact, the slugger believes he deserves the highest salary in the league and is toying with a $40,000 figure, the value he claims Connie Mack placed on him while he was with the Athletics.

"I led the league in almost every department, so why shouldn't I get more dough?" asked Jimmy. "Lou Gehrig was the top man in money when he was top hitter." Foxx recalled. "On that basis, I ought to get the largest pay check in 1939 for the work I did in 1938."

Ashland Seeks Fourth Conference Win Tonight

By JIM EMERSON

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Two "home town" products and two sophomore importations from basketball-famous Indiana were co-operating today to lift Ashland college from the depths of the Ohio conference basketball standings.

The new basketball blood, smartly coached by Tony Lonero, a graduate from Ashland high school coaching ranks himself, has swept the Eagles through three conference and one non-conference games in December without defeat and waved a serious challenge that they will be a factor in the current championship scramble.

Tonight the rejuvenated Eagles who won only five conference games in the three preceding seasons invade the court of Heidelberg's Student Princes at Tiffin in quest of their fourth league victory after a three-week layoff from competition.

Chief motivation for the resumed drive will be supplied by Bob Sprague, forward, Virgil Scobey, center, both alumni of Ashland high, and Jim Richcreek, forward, and Bob Shively, from Nappanee, Ind., where they were teammates for three years.

Richcreek, a five-foot, eight-inch flash of speed, Sprague and Scobey have scored 134 points between them in the Eagles' four appearances to date. This is nearly two-thirds of Ashland's total of 198 points. Sprague, all-North Central Ohio forward while in high school, turned in the best single performance with 18 points against Ohio Northern.

Lonero has developed a squad of accurate passers and fast-breaking shooters who waste few of their point-making chances. Against Kenyon, the Eagles made good on 40 per cent of their shots while 31 per cent tallied against Northern.

A second conference meeting tonight matches Wooster against Otterbein at Westerville.

Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio U. knock off the Buckeye conference lid in a game at Athens that promises to be a scoring carnival. The invading Bishops have averaged 49 points in winning six out of nine starts while the Bobcats have averaged 53 points in winning four and losing two games.

Other contests find Cincinnati at Miami and Wilmington at Wilberforce.

Akron rang up its fifth conquest feating Lawrence Tech, 46 to 34, without defeat last night by de-Western Reserve dropped its third consecutive game when the Red Cats lost to the Nittany Lions of Penn State, 36 to 24, to complete a two-game road trip.

Hipp, Applan Hang Up Record

Former Shoots Brilliant 753 Total to Account for New Individual Mark.

FARRELL HIPP blasted the uprights for a record-breaking 753 series in the City Class a Doubles league at the Meder alleys last night.

Hipp and his partner, Jack Applan, who shot a 671, compiled a 1424 total to establish a new season record in this department, too.

Hipp's mineralite collected scores of 258, 268 and 227 as he and his partner added three victories at the expense of Fred McKinley and Mike Meder with games of 458, 482 and 484.

Applan put together games of 200, 214 and 257 in the record-breaking string.

Cliff Forsythe walloped the wood for a 674 total, which was rolled from games of 215, 220 and 239, and he and his partner, Joe Cheney, took two decisions from Burdett and Sonny Meder, who whipped up a 172-247-222—641. The Forsythe-Cheney duo rolled a 1234.

Carl Heilman and Dale Cleckner took two games from Neil Swank and Gene Funston. Swank was high in the match with a 612

GREEN BAY STARS WIN PRO SCORING HONORS

CHICAGO—(INS)—Two Green Bay Packers were named today as the leading scorers in the national professional football league.

Fullback Clerke Hinkle topped the list with seven touchdowns and seven points after touchdown plus three field goals for a total of fifty-eight points. Right behind him came the Packers' stellar end, Don Hutson who snagged nine touchdown passes and kicked three points after them for an aggregate of fifty-seven points.

Nova Has Yet to Beat Somebody

LOU NOVA . . . looks ahead to Joe Louis.

By BILL BRAUCHER,
Central Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK—Some of my confreres have steamed themselves into a well-cooked condition concerning the heavyweight championship possibilities of Lou Nova, who shellacked Tommy Farr into a semi-comatose state the other night in the Garden.

It is being said, with the characteristic conservatism of New York boxing writers, that the business of meeting and beating Joe Louis is just a formality and the supremacy of the white race is re-established.

Cantelopes and Sophomores.

But my Aunt Emma always told me to be suspicious about cantelopes, sophomore halfbacks and cauliflowers who have had only 27 fights. I'd like to see Mr. Nova beat somebody before I start twanging my bass fiddle in his behalf. Yes, he beat Farr badly, but that's only par for the course. I couldn't give him better than 72 on that round, even though he did have the Welshman in a bad way. Farr happens to be one of those fighters who makes a stirring success of losing fights.

If they throw him in there with Max Baer, as they threaten, and he comes out maimed no worse than he is now, then we can look up Mistah Louis' telephone number again.

Glancing over the paens of praise penned after he flailed Farr, we note that he is a "damaging hitter with either hand." That might be amended by a clause "when he's not missing." Farr made him miss a couple of hundred swings. Sure, he's young—but just as sure, he misses. Farr was more than holding his own with the young man from Alameda. Lou will be 24 next March.

Like Tunney?

One of that more rabid resin sniffers of the Fourth Estate pecked out a few thousand words to the general effect that Nova has everything that Gene Tunney had, plus something that Tunney didn't have—a viciousness and willingness to mix it at all times. It sounds just a little confusing to this observer. Tunney never got to the top by patting shoulders. Those who remember the slashed face of Dempsey on the morning after in Philadelphia aren't so willing to concede that Gene lacked anything in savagery though it is true he didn't go out there and throw a lot of wild, aimless swings.

Perhaps what is meant is that Lou has everything Gene had in the way of arms and legs—and what he has got that Tunney lacked is a bashed-in nose. All our mistake.

But let's leave the cold water department for the nonce, and see if it's all really as bad as all that. While we're not ready to consider a championship fight for Lou this afternoon, it is true that he has come along all right so far, except that he played football at Sacramento Junior college, and we've always been just a shade skeptical about gridders in the ring. Three years age he won the San Francisco Golden Gloves competition. He won the national amateur title in St. Louis, went to Paris and won the internationals. His present manager, Ray Carlin, bought him from Ham Larimer for $1,000.

The only fight he has lost was to Maxie Rosenbloom, which shouldn't be marked too black against him, for Rosie has slapped a lot of good ones around.

We would like to see how he fares with Baer, however—or such an up-and-coming young battler as Billy Conn—before composing our hymn.

Galento Seeks Go With Nova

Offers to Fight Without Purse, But If He Wins . . ?

NEW YORK—(INS)—In one of the boldest challenges since the days when good old John L. was threatening to lick any so-and-so in the house, Tony Galento, the well-known beer keg on legs, hereby goes on record as being willing to fight Lou Nova free of charge. He will even pay his own transportation from his Orange, N. J., tavern to the scene of the encounter for the privilege of meeting the young Californian.

All this and more was said today in behalf of Galento by his manager, Joe Jacobs. The specific offer herewith presented by Jacobs for publication with the promise that Galento would go through with it if the match with Nova could be arranged is:

A 10 or 15 round fight at Madison Square Garden or elsewhere in February or March on a winner-take-all basis. If Galento can't win he doesn't want or expect and won't accept a dime. If he does win, he wants both purses, this being the one catch in the proposition.

Moreover, Joe Jacobs is ready to discuss the matter with Promoter Mike Jacobs at the latter's convenience. In fact, he already has done what he can toward landing the match by communicating by long distance with Mike at Miami, where the latter currently is hibernating.

No 'Big Time' Foes On Reserve's Card

CLEVELAND—(UP)—Western Reserve, Ohio's only undefeated and untied football team last fall, must wait until at least 1940 before realizing its ambition for a shot at "Big Time" opposition.

The 1939 Red Cat's schedule, released today, disclosed the same caliber of opposition as played in 1938. Dayton and Kent State will be 1939 replacements for West Virginia and Youngstown met last fall. The 1939 card:

Sept. 30, Dayton, here; Oct. 7, Ohio U., there; Oct. 14, Boston U., there; Oct. 21, Baldwin-Wallace; Oct. 28, Cincinnati, here; Nov. 4, Ohio Wesleyan, here; Nov. 11, Kent State, here; Nov. 18, John Carroll; Nov. 30, Case.

VON CRAMM TO RETIRE FROM TOURNAMENT PLAY

NEW YORK—(ILE)—Baron Gottfried Von Cramm of Germany, one of the world's foremost amateur tennis players, is retiring from tournament competition, Don Budge says.

With Von Cramm out of the Davis cup picture, Budge predicted that Australia again will be the United States' most formidable rival in the International Trophy competition next year. Big blond Von Cramm, runner-up to Budge at Wimbledon, Eng., and Forest Hills in 1937, was recently released from prison by Nazi authorities.

RISKS SHARE OF TITLE

RENEW OLD FEUD

NEW YORK—(INS)—The old Glenn Cunningham-Gene Venzke feud will be renewed at the annual Columbus Council K. of C. meet Saturday.

HE'LL QUIT SOME DAY

The Yankees will continue to break in Outfielder Tommy Henrich as a first baseman next season, working against the day Lou Gehrig calls it a day.

PAM—The Coming Party! By A. W. Brewerton

SELF-RESPECT IS MORE THAN MONEY, CLARE! I JUST COULDN'T TAKE ALL THAT AND KNOW I WASN'T EARNING IT—IT WAS JUST BEING HANDED TO ME AS A RICH MAN'S GIFT!
I WAS JUST WONDERING HOW MANY GIRLS WOULD HAVE HAD YOUR WILL POWER, PAM!
MR. PAIGE IS CERTAINLY IN MANY KINDS OF BUSINESS, ISN'T HE?
YES, HE IS! ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING IS A CONCERN WHICH DEVELOPS AND MANUFACTURES ARMAMENT! HE WAS TELLING ME ABOUT IT, CLARE! — SOME OF THE WORK HAS TO BE GUARDED TO KEEP GOVERNMENT SECRETS FROM BECOMING KNOWN!
SOUNDS THRILLING!
IT IS! — HIS ENGINEERS ARE WORKING NOW ON THE DEVELOPMENT OF A NEW SORT OF DEFENSE GUN — VERY MARVELOUS! SOME HIGH NAVY AND GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS ARE MR. PAIGE'S GUESTS NOW——MEETING AT HIS HOME TO CONFER WITH THE ENGINEERS—AND THIS WEEK-END HE'S GOING TO GIVE A DINNER PARTY FOR THEM —AND HE WANTS ME TO COME!
AND WHAT A PARTY IT WAS TO TURN OUT TO BE!
SOME PARTY!

OH, OH! LOOK! 'WAY UP THERE WHERE FIVE ROADS COME TOGETHER—ALMOST HID BY THAT CLUMP O' BUSHES—THAT BLACK CAR—AXEL'S CAR—AND I'LL BET THEY'VE GOT FIELD GLASSES, TOO—
IF WE'D BEEN UP IN TH' ROAD, THEY'D HAVE SPOTTED US A-MILE AWAY—GEE, THAT SURE WAS A CLOSE ONE—WE'VE GOT'TA FIGGER SOME WAY TO GET HUNDREDS O' MILES FROM HERE, FAST—
ON FOOT IS TOO SLOW—THEY'RE BOUND TO TRAP US AT THIS RATE—I'VE GOT MONEY, BUT IT'S NO GOOD—BUS? NOT WITH YOU, SANDY—TRAIN? HAVE TO HAVE SOME GROWN-UP BUY MY TICKET—EXPLANATIONS—WE'D LEAVE A TRAIL LIKE A DEAD ELEPHANT DRAGGED THROUGH A CANE PATCH—NOPE—WELL, FOR NOW WE'LL JUST SIT—SIT AND THINK—RIGHT HERE WHERE WE'RE SAFE—'TILL DARK—AND THEN—

THE NEBBS—The Philanderer. By Sol Hess

RIGHT IN FRONT OF MY VERY EYES AND EARS YOU CALLED THE WAITRESS "HONEY" AND "SWEETHEART"—SAME NAMES YOU CALLED ME!!
I DIDN'T MEAN NOTHING BY IT—I DON'T TIP HEAVY SO I'VE GOT TO CHEER THEM ALONG WITH HONEY WORDS!
I SHOULDN'T HAVE MARRIED YOU—HONEY WORDS DROP TOO EASY OUT OF YOUR MOUTH
OH, HECK! YOU'RE MAKING A LOT OVER A MEASLY NOTHING!
A WOMAN MAKES A TERRIBLE MISTAKE MARRYING A HANDSOME MAN—I ARGUED IT OVER WITH MYSELF FOR NEARLY A WHOLE DAY BEFORE I SAID "YES"!!
WELL, I SUPPOSE IT'S MY FAULT BECAUSE I'M GOOD LOOKING—AND I AIN'T NEVER GOING TO SAY A HONEY WORD TO NOBODY. I'M GOING TO BE BLUNT, CROSS AND CRUEL!
C. A. Casson

BRICK BRADFORD—In the Fortress of Fear. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

AHA! THE BEARD IS FALSE, EH?
YOU WERE RIGHT, MATCHA! THIS MAN IS AN IMPOSTOR—HIS REAL NAME IS BRICK BRADFORD!
THAT'S FOR SPYING ON OTHER PEOPLE—YOU GRINNING HYENA!
HOPE YOU ENJOYED YOUR FUN—IT'S YOUR LAST! GUARDS—SEIZE THESE MEN!

NICE KITTY! NICE—ULP—KITTY!
PURR-R!
NI-I-CE KITTY!
OH, MY STARS!
YOU—YOU HOLD THE BEAST, MICKEY—WHILE I, UH—GET A FIREARM!
WELL, HURRY! I DON'T KNOW HOW LONG I CAN HOLD HIM!

TAILSPIN TOMMY—"King Hurricane" Strikes! By Hal Forrest

ACTING UPON A PREARRANGED PLAN, THE AERIAL PIRATES, ALARMED AT THE APPROACHING HURRICANE AND THE GROWING MADNESS OF THEIR CRACK-BRAINED LEADER, FELL UPON CAPT BARRACUDA, AND DISPOSED OF HIM BEFORE THE TERRIFIED GAZE OF THEIR HELPLESS CAPTIVES! THEN PEE-WEE PROMPTLY ELECTED HIMSELF THE NEW LEADER
IN AN ADJOINING ROOM IN THE PIRATE STRONGHOLD, TOMMY AND BILGEWATER BILL ARE TRYING TO SLIP OUTSIDE.. BUT JUST NOW..
TH' TH' HURRICANE! IT'S COMIN'!
YUP! THAT MEANS WE GOTTA STAY HERE UNTIL IT BLOWS OVER!
I DON'T THINK ANYONE CAN FLY THAT SHIP AWAY FROM THIS ISLAND, NOW, BILL!
AND TOMMY
SUPPOSE TH' STORM WRECKS TH' PLANE, PEE-WEE..
SOME OF YOUSE GUYS BETTER GO OUT THERE AN' LASH THAT PLANE DOWN TIGHT!
LISTEN PEE-WEE! IF THAT HURRICANE HITS THIS ISLAND REAL HARD, IT WON'T BE NO USE TO LASH ANYTHING DOWN!

LIST DOWN AS TRADERS CASH IN ON RUN-UP

Utilities and Coppers Edge Forward After Hesitant Opening Today.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks slipped a notch or two in today's market as traders cashed in on Wednesday's brisk run-up.

A shade behind were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, General Electric, Allied Chemical and Standard Oil of N. J.

Utilities edged forward after a hesitant start, along with several coppers.

Bonds generally did better and major commodities were steady.

Among comforting over-night items studied by market analysis were:

Dun & Bradstreet found bank clearings in 22 cities for the short week ended Jan. 4, jumped 9.6 per cent above the aggregate in the comparable 5-day week a year ago.

Principal subsidies of the American Telephone company in the Bell system reported an increase of 66,300 telephones in December against a gain of 41,800 in the same 1937 month.

The "Engineering News-Record" estimated construction awards for the short week ending today at $86,995,000, the highest for any week since that of June 24, 1937.

SCHOOL, RELIEF LOBBIES BATTLE FOR OHIO FUNDS

Start Race to Get Favorable Assembly Action First; Millions at Stake.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third and last of a series of stories on problems confronting the new legislature.

By E. E. EASTERLY

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Convening of the 93rd general assembly signaled the start of a race between the school interests and the poor relief lobbyists for millions of dollars in state funds.

Each will strive to receive first consideration in the legislature. The school representatives fear that if the relief crowd gets its hand into the treasury first, the schools won't get all they need, and vice versa.

The Republicans, who will dominate the new legislature, are pledged to finance the school foundation program adequately.

Deficits Accumulate.

This involves payment of accumulated deficits, estimated anywhere from $13,000,000 to $17,000,000, and raising perhaps $5,000,000 a year additional to put the program on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The schools' predicament has been caused largely by declining sales tax revenue, of which they receive 60 per cent after deductions for poor relief and administration.

The cost of providing a uniform program of education has been about $48,000,000 a year.

A business boom with an attendant sharp increase in collections from the sales tax, as well as the liquid fuel and cigaret taxes, also allocated to the schools, might provide the $5,000,000 needed to put the foundation program on an even keel.

The biggest problem probably will be in caring for the deficit. Gov.-Elect John W. Bricker has indicated he hopes to see the deficit paid off on the installment plan. One method would be creation of a state authority, similar to the bridge commission and building authority, which would issue bonds to pay the deficit.

Where the money will be found to pay off the bonds is a question on which no one familiar with the situation has committed himself.

Because of a lack of cash, the state has had to pay the quarterly $12,000,000 distribution to the schools in notes, on which local boards of education must pay interest while the state is redeeming the obligations. This interest has cost the boards about $750,000 a year.

Governors Resume Their Office

Frank D. Fitzgerald (top right) takes oath as governor of Michigan from Chief Justice Henry M. Butzel of the state supreme court at Lansing. Previously beaten in bid for re-election, he defeated Frank Murphy, Democrat, newly-appointed U. S. Attorney General. Governor Herbert H. Lehman (lower right) of New York takes oath from retiring Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn at Albany as he starts his fourth term, this one for four-years, first in the state's history.

SENIOR CLASS PARTY JAN. 13

January Graduates to Dance in School Cafeteria; Name Committee Members.

The January graduating class of Senior high school will hold its class party and dance Jan. 13 in the school cafeteria, William Fishbach, class president, announced today.

Music for the event will be furnished by Tommy Van and his orchestra of Ashland. Arrangements for the party are in charge of four committees headed by Margery Buel, general chairman.

Members of other committees are: arrangements—Richard Samsel, chairman, Kay Glessner, Richard Shively and Robert Charles; flowers—Janeith Merrill, chairman, Virginia Wagner and Theresa Shisler; decorations — Kathleen MacIntosh, chairman, Mabel Hahne, Marion Brangacio, Richard Morgan, Robert Frontz, Robert Dittrick, Robert Knofflock, Bruce Gruneisen, Robert Slisher, Donald Underwood, and Henry Winbigler; menu—Mildred Wappner, chairman, Rosemary Alacca, LaDoris Abbott and Esther Dorn.

Other events scheduled for the seniors before graduation are Class day, Jan. 20, Baccalaureate service, Jan. 22, and commencement, Jan. 27.

While the 12-A class is completing graduation arrangements, the 137 members of the 11-A class, who will graduate next January, yesterday selected their class rings. The rings will be ordered this week and will be delivered next semester when the class will be promoted to the 12-B rank. Mrs Avice Reed is adviser of the class.

VAST DEFENSE FUNDS SOUGHT

current spending program with aiding "the existing upward movement of business and employment," the president said it should not be curtailed "arbitrarily or violently."

The budget included an estimate that at least $750,000,000 would be required to operate WPA until June 30. Present funds are expected to run out Feb. 8.

For the next year, the president asked $1,500,000,000 for the WPA. He requested no new public works program but estimated $366,000,000 would be necessary to carry out work already underway.

Next year's $8,995,663,200 expenditure estimates, which did not include $100,000,000 to be used for paying off debt, compared with a forecast of $9,492,329,000 for the current year. Receipts were set at $5,669,320,000 and $5,520,070,000 for the respective periods.

Mr. Roosevelt renewed his often-repeated suggestion that the best method of obtaining a balanced budget is the promotion of economic recovery.

"We can not by a simple legislative act raise the level of national income," he said, "but our experience in the last few years has amply demonstrated that through wise fiscal policies and other acts of government we can do much to stimulate it. x x x.

Spending 'Necessary.'

"During the past nine years—a period which has seen the national income drop from a high of $81,000,000,000 in 1929 to around $40,000,000,000 in 1932 and rise again to about $70,000,000,000 in 1937 — federal revenues, even though on a higher tax base, have never completely covered expenditures."

The president said it was a "well known fact" that the current spending program was necessary to check a recession.

"Any decision to decrease those expenditures now that recovery has just started," he continued, "would constitute a new policy which ought not to be adopted without full understanding of what may be the result."

"May I say emphatically that I am not suggesting an ordinary budget which is always balanced and an extraordinary budget which is always unbalanced.

"The ordinary expenses of the government should continue to be met out of the current revenues. But I also hope that those revenues in times of prosperity will provide a surplus which can be applied against the public debt that the government must incur in lean years because of extraordinary demands upon it."

The projected $44,458,000,000 public debt in mid-1940 would be close to the statutory limit of $45,000,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt is generally expected to ask congress to raise the limit during the present session.

Get 'Real Values.'

Discussing emergency expenditures of recent years, the president said that "we have not been throwing the taxpayers' money out of the window or into the sea —we have been buying real values with it."

"The greater part of the budgetary deficit that have been incurred have gone for permanent, tangible additions to our national wealth," he added. "The balance has been an investment in the conservation of our human resources, and I do not regard a penny of it wasted."

For future bookkeeping, Mr. Roosevelt suggested that congress consider legislation to make the treasury's accounts of assets compare more nearly with accounts kept by commercial enterprises.

Under the proposed system, loans for self-liquidating projects would not be listed as expenditures. If the project returned a profit, the profit would be recorded as a receipt. If it showed a loss, the loss would be made up by the treasury and listed as an expenditure.

The chief executive urged that the civilian conservation corps be made permanent. The agency is scheduled to go out of existence June 30, 1940.

Seeks 875 Millions To Operate WPA.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Continuing relief demands of the nation make it imperative that $875,000,000 be appropriated immediately to carry the Works Progress Administration program through from Feb. 1 to June 30, 1939, President Roosevelt advised congress today in a special message augmenting his budget report.

This sum, the president advised congress, would be sufficient to employ an average of 3,000,000 workers in February and March, and a diminishing number beginning in April which would reach a figure of 2,700,000 in June.

The president took cognizance of recent criticism of political activity in the WPA set-up and the ensuing agitation to turn work relief back to the states.

He urged, however, that the appropriation to wind up the current fiscal year be made on the present basis to avoid confusion, while congress makes future policy a "subject of study and hearings" from which a program for the fiscal year 1939-1940 might be evolved.

"No one wishes more sincerely than I do that the program for assisting unemployed workers shall be completely free from political manipulation," Mr. Roosevelt declared.

Is Your Nose a Target?

Is your nose irritated—is it clogged with mucus—does your throat get choked with phlegm—are you losing your sense of taste, smell, due to a cold? Are your breathing passages corked up? Get a tube or jar of Mentholatum today. Wake up tomorrow morning with a clearer head and feeling like a new person. This soothing balm—when applied in the nostrils—vaporizes almost instantly. Its active comforting vapors help break up the choking mucus, relieve irritation and local congestion and open up stuffy breathing passages. Mentholatum stays put and brings soothing comfort with every breath. Ask your druggist for Mentholatum today. In jars or tubes. 30¢. Copyright 1939, The Mentholatum Co.

They Don't Like Quiet Evenings at Home

(By Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — There really are only four members of Isaac Tenenbaum's family but a casual visitor might add them up to eight—or more. The reason is that they are all ventriloquists—and they practice almost every night in the Tenenbaum living room. It's quite a babel.

Papa Tenenbaum started it. His act flourished in vaudeville more than 20 years ago. From him, Mrs. Tenenbaum learned how to throw her voice. The Tenenbaums' two sons, Morris, now a student at the University of Louisville, and Morton, a junior high school student, followed. The Tenenbaums have half a dozen dummies.

Calls for Spending At $17,113 a Minute

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The budget which President Roosevelt sent congress today calls for the spending of $17,113 a minute in the next fiscal year.

The proposed rate amounts to $1,026,826 an hour, or $24,643,835 a day.

TRACY TALKS

Gyro Club Hears Story of 19,000-Mile Trip.

Members of the Gyro club heard an interesting account of a 19,000-mile vacation trip to South America, told by Rufus A. Tracy, Mansfield business man, at their bi-weekly dinner meeting last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy made the trip by freight steamer from New Orleans, travelling to Buenos by boat, then by train and automobile across Argentina to Chile, passing through the Chilean lake country, which Mr. Tracy described as "the most beautiful country I have ever seen."

Although he made the trip in 1937, even then German influence in Argentina was noticeable, and Germans were treated far more cordially than visitors from the United States, he said.

Forest Cleland, entertainment committee chairman, arranged the program.

GIVEN PAPERS

Mansfield Heating Equipment Firm Incorporates.

Incorporation papers had been issued today by the secretary of state to the P. R. Eaton and Son company, Mansfield, which was authorized to issue 250 shares of no par stock.

The Mansfield firm, which installs stokers, heaters and other home and factory equipment, is owned by Porter R. Eaton and his son, Charles, the incorporators.

NEARLY CENSUS TIME

WASHINGTON—(AP)—It's getting time to think about the 1940 census. President Roosevelt has asked congress to allot $3,500,000 for a new building where the tabulators will work.

BABY BALTZELL IS KING OF 1939!

Welcome to Mansfield, Young Lad, and have Mother let the Park Grocery help her as we do so many mothers, in guiding—

BABY'S DIET

Any mother knows how sturdy, healthy, happy and contented she wants her baby to be. She wants that baby to grow into a bright, healthy, vigorous childhood, and then—looking far into the future—she dreams for the adult future of that little "tike." And whatever the years bring to her and baby, baby's diet will be largely responsible—That's why mother should choose the best Baby Foods—Battle Creek Health Foods.

ROMANCE, INC. + + +

By OREN ARNOLD

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER 20

The applause was so great that the amateur actors had to come back for a burlesque encore. And to oblige still further, Don Romero sang a song in English:

"Tonight I'M the gay caballero
Out for much laughter—ha ha!
The maidens may all go a-running,
But I shall run after, ha ha-a-a!
I'll catch me a girlo
And give her a whirlo
Of whoopee a la Espanol.
For love is my song at Fiesta;
My heart, she sings mucho—ha ha!
I'm bound to be gay,
Ha-ha ha-ha HEY!
Viva La Fiesta del Sol!"

That went over doubly well. For not only did the rather handsome young Mexican have a fair voice, he also had a sense of humor and a stage presence. He sang his song with just the appropriate gestures, he used the simple tricks of showmanship which make any impromptu performance good.

Peaches Pomeroy had edged into the center of the big circle who watched him, and she took pains to applaud loudly, even when he sang his comic chorus directly at Sara Sue. The crowd was already whispering — correctly— that Sara Sue Davis would be his choice for the grand march. There was nothing Peaches could do about it, except burn inwardly. A year ago, when Bob Towne and she were supplying the campus romance, when she was tops in campus society, when she was regarded as the acme of collegiate beauty—but there is no good in mulling over the past.

Peaches knew now that Bob would start immediately to woo Sara Sue Davis as ardently as he could. With this afternoon's game, football training was over. He could now sit up nights. He could go places, do as he pleased, eat what he wanted, when he wanted to. In short, he was now free. And he had already been telling the school that he was "sold" on the Davis person.

Peaches left the gathering presently. Went off to the women's lounge to be alone and think, pretending, when necessary, to be rearranging her dress.

When she heard an outburst of applause, she went back long enough to verify what she had feared—that Don Romero had chosen Sara Sue. It had seemed entirely appropriate to everyone. Sara Sue, in Rice colors, Rice's most popular girl. Sara Sue, in American — not Mexican — costume. It had seemed ideal. Nobody appeared to remember that Sara Sue was not actually a part of Rice at all, officially. Peaches came on back to the lounge.

It occurred to Peaches that she wanted a drink badly. But she was stuck with Thornton Holgate, who was too damned correct. As soon as possible, she would ditch him and look up some of the old gang. Meanwhile, she'd give anything to kick the Davis woman out of town. To—to—well, to get even. Davis was an intruder anyway. She had come to Rice and butted in on everybody's business, and made them pay for it. She had stuck her nose—oh, damn!

It always had in old man Pomeroy, who squeezed other people in Texas out of their oil well rights. It had frequently meant danger in his daughter. And it was breeding danger in her now.

She sat for a long while, sulking, staring at nothing, thinking, twisting the exquisite diamond bracelet she wore. The more she thought, the more she hated Sara Sue Davis. She hated everybody. She hated—oh, damn! She needed a drink. She would—

All at once, then, an idea struck her.

She looked at the bracelet. Not admiringly, but, inspired. Her features hardened perceptibly, and she seemed to be looking at nothing at all. She knew, in a moment, that she had a plan. A perfectly wonderful plan!

Now there are two or three ways to get rid of your rival if you are a woman in love and without compassion.

You can take the rival out in a boat, for instance, and maneuver to drown her. It has been done. It is quite effective in that it removes the competition from the scene forever. It is as effective, and not nearly as messy as shooting or stabbing or poisoning.

But none of these is entirely perfect as a modus operandi. The law doesn't approve. And, even though the law could be circumvented (as it frequently can be), the man himself wouldn't necessarily erase the departed one from his heart. A much better, safer way would be to contrive some plan whereby the rival is discredited in the eyes of the man himself.

This latter thought had occupied the best attention that Peaches Pomeroy could give it. Peaches had some powerful weapons at her command. Among them was money.

Could she hire some woman to lure Bob Towne away from Sara Sue Davis? Possibly, but that still wouldn't leave Bob's heart free; he would be just shifting his attention to another woman, not herself.

Could she hire some man to lure the Davis person away from Bob? No, because that would only stimulate Bob's own energies, make him woo Sara Sue all the more ardently. Bob already had competition, and hadn't quit.

What, then, could Peaches do?

If Sara Sue Davis could just be compromised—

If she could be suddenly exposed in an embarrassing situation with some man, then Bob Towne would discover that she was unfaithful and so—

But it is difficult to compromise anybody. It means hiring someone to do it. It means that the plot can backfire on you, revealing your part in it to your complete embarrassment and detriment. And besides that, Peaches had to admit to herself that the Davis woman was clever. Sara Sue enjoyed a most wholesome and clean reputation; she wouldn't likely be caught napping.

Peaches had been giving bitter thought to these details. Even to the possibility of destroying Sara Sut in an "accident." She shied promptly off the latter, however, for she was inherently a coward. But she was a shrewd, scheming one, and when she sat alone at the dance, idly twisting her diamond bracelet, she had her sudden inspiration.

She felt at once that her idea was sound.

It could be worked easily. It would involve no accomplices. It would discredit Sara Sue in a most logical way, publicly, scandalously.

Sara Sue was known to be a widow. Widows are traditionally destitute. In fact, Sara Sue herself had set out to earn a living with her so-called Counsel in Romance. (Peaches referred to it contemptuously, even in her thoughts.) It should be easy for people to believe that Sara Sue was in dire need of money. Yes, it seemed like an excellent plan.

"I wish I had a drink first," Peaches murmured.

But she got up from the divan in the women's lounge, and went immediately to set her plan in operation.

It would seem that a married man could enjoy a modicum of respect from his associates. Married life is supposed to entail a certain dignity. A married man is supposed to be mature. But—ho hum. Not if you are a freshman. Not if your whirlwind romance and elopement has been a fillip of pleasure for everybody on a college campus. Not if you are rather popular, and you and your pretty bride are just 18 years old.

Mister Worthington Gurley, married man, had suffered interminably (but not unpleasantly) from sophomores. These latter tyrants had felt duty bound to give him extra attention when he stole away the sweetest girl in the freshman class. When he returned to the campus after his elopement, for instance, he was forced to wear old shoes strung around his neck for three more—symbols of his new state.

Most of the Rice folk, therefore, came to know Worthington and Marcia Gurley. But Peaches Pomeroy did not. Peaches knew Marcia by sight, but she had never been conscious of Worthington. The latter was a mere freshman, a slime, beneath her notice socially; one of the noisy crowd that clutter up the campus. She might have met him somewhere, but she had no impression of his looks. He was just one of the 300-odd freshmen who had registered at Rice in September.

Accordingly, Peaches did not recognize the lad when she went to the hat-and-coat check room of the University club.

She saw a "bell hop" there in charge, a "buttons," a youngster in a tight red monkey suit such as any bell boy might wear. But she did not know him. She naturally assumed that he was what he appeared to be—a club servant. She came up to him, glancing around to be sure they were momentarily alone.

"Oh, boy," she purred, smiling, "would you please run out and get me a 10-cent package of aspirin? I have a terrible headache. Here—here's 50 cents. Just keep the change."

"Hello, Miss Pomeroy," Worthington spoke heartily. "Having a good time?"

She soured a little at that. It smacked too much of comradeship—from a servant.

But then, she had her plan. It wouldn't do to let personal feelings interfere now. She forced a becoming smile again, such a condescending smile as one might give a faithful old gardener, if one were in a balmy mood.

"Oh, quite," she declared. "A very gay group, isn't it? Is—is everything running smoothly with the staff?"

"Hunh? Oh. I see what you mean. Yeah. Say, gosh, you look nice in your Spanish costume. Who'd you come with?"

Peaches glared at him. Such effrontery! She wanted to slap his impudent face. It took genuine will power to control her feelings, but she did.

"Will you get my aspirin, or not?" She spoke ominously.

"Oh, all right, all right." The lad thought he was merely being hazed some more—by a senior girl, by another upperclassman who was acting a part. "You'll have to watch the checking counter while I go, though. They'll kill me if I leave it unguarded."

"I'll stay right here by it for you," she assured him. That was, indeed, exactly a part of her plan.

Worthington took the 50-cent piece, and came around the corner. He grinned again at Peaches, assuming the friendship he had a right to feel even from a senior girl, but holding a tradition and not speaking any more.

Worthington was a conformist. He had come to love Rice and its traditions, even those that worked so-called hardships on freshmen. He realized that next year he would be a sophomore—then HIS sun would shine! It is the great and powerful hope of every freshman, everywhere.

The sophs had picked on Worthington this night for two excellent reasons. First, he was a likeable, tractable freshman known to be a good sport and known to enjoy a good time. Second, he "had it coming to him" because he had dared to make love to and marry a Rice girl, in spite of the sophomores. He was very young of face and form. In short, he was the perfect slime to play bell hop.

Now the sophomores had some definite plans for this dance, this big international ball. For one thing, they expected to bring a genuine bull up the elevator of the University club about midnight, and so honor Mexico with a bull fight somewhat more real than the impromptu one that Don Romero and Bob Towne had staged. Even now they had the yearling bull tied in the club garage downstairs.

But the sophs also wanted some fun at the finale of the night's whoopee. Wherefore, they "took over" the hat-and-coat checkroom by placing Slime Gurley in charge, in a buttons uniform. When they got around to it, they would go in and exchange the checks, switching them every conceivably way. At closing, Slime Gurley would get the brunt of the trouble. And the sophs would sit back for some academic laughter — having first claimed their own hats and coats properly, of course.

Worthington knew these things.

He hadn't been stupid. He had even agreed—with boyish zest—to act the part as best he could, for he could see the possibilities of fun. He had been out dancing earlier in the evening, then had slipped into his buttons suit on command. He had only the last dance with Marcia anyway, now, and he might have to give that up. Oh, well, he had her for keeps; she would understand, for she was a freshman, too.

He came around the counter, therefore, grinning knowingly at Peaches Pomeroy.

"One packet of aspirin," he spoke very correctly then, acting. "Yes, madam, I'll get it at once."

Then he disappeared, leaving Peaches alone. At once the hard look came back to Peaches' face. Anyone, seeing it, would surely have been frightened.

JOBLESS CLAIMS HERE TOTAL 700

Maurice K. Wells, manager of the Mansfield district branch office of the Ohio Unemployment Compensation commission, estimated today that 700 applications have been filed for appointment cards designating the date and time for eligibles to apply for benefits, payable in February.

The two temporary "scheduling stations" that were located in the city building and at fire stations No. 3 have been closed, and jobless workers applying for benefits must now call at the branch office at 50 North Diamond street, Wells said.

Wells estimated that in the Mansfield district there are at least 1,000 other persons eligible for unemployment compensation who have not yet filed a claim.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

When You Have Cold Troubles Do What 3 out of 5 Mothers Do

Here are 4 Proved Ways They Use to Relieve Discomforts of Colds

1 Head-Cold Sniffles and Misery. Melt a spoonful of Vicks VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water, then inhale the steaming vapors. These medicated vapors loosen phlegm, clear air-passages, make breathing easier. Then, at bedtime, massage throat and chest with VapoRub; leave bed-covering loose around neck so the medicated vapors, released by body heat, can be inhaled freely during the night. VapoRub's direct action brings comfort—relieves local congestion—helps you relax into restful sleep. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

2 Coughing or Sore Throat due to the cold. Use steam treatment outlined above. Also put a small lump of VapoRub on the tongue. It melts, trickles slowly down—bathes the throat with soothing medication which brings comforting relief to the irritated membranes and checks tendency to cough.

3 Night Coughs due to colds—especially of children—can often be prevented by massaging VapoRub on throat and chest at bedtime.

4 Chest Colds. Thoroughly massage VapoRub on throat, chest and back. Then spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth. VapoRub goes right to work—two ways at once: (1) Direct through the skin like a poultice; (2) Direct on the irritated air-passages as its medicated vapors are inhaled with every breath. This direct double action loosens phlegm—eases coughing—clears the air-passages—eases muscular soreness or tightness—relieves local congestion.

Children's Colds are always a problem to mothers. Neglect is dangerous, because it often paves the way for more serious trouble. But constant internal dosing is risky, too. It often upsets a delicate little stomach, lowers resistance just when it is most needed to overcome the cold and ward off complications . . . It is for these reasons that most mothers depend on VapoRub to relieve the misery of their children's colds. With VapoRub there's no needless dosing, no risk of stomach upsets. It can be used freely; as often as needed, on even the youngest child.

Many Other Ways in which VapoRub can help you are described in the medically-approved directions folder that comes in each VapoRub package.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1939.

This is the day on which you should be able to write the date without giving the "9" a second thought.

Dayton is celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of its inauguration of city manager government—outgrowth of the 1913 flood. It is regrettable that civic progress so frequently awaits an emergency caused by disaster.

"While there is perfect confidence here in Mr. Chamberlain," says the French government, it wouldn't dream of putting him to the trouble of doing any "mediating" for France during his visit to Rome. Polite, but hardly complimentary.

The President's Message.

EXCEPT as it served to express a very general American attitude toward dictatorships and to reaffirm determination to preserve democracy in the western hemisphere, the message that President Roosevelt delivered yesterday to Congress and broadcast to the world, goes little further than his fireside chats and other earlier utterances on subjects of national interest.

Pointing to conditions existing in other parts of the world, the President sees requirement for further warning "of the need of putting our own house in order in the face of storm signals from across the seas."

Herein appears an intimation of the President's plan to ask vast appropriations for upbuilding the nation's military establishment to a strength deemed sufficient to safeguard democracy against any present or future threat.

To those whose memory carries that far back, yesterday's talk by President Roosevelt on the preservation of democracy cannot fail to be remindful of the gradual build-up of war sentiment during the period just preceding entry of the United States into the World war.

While Congress may be reasonably expected to recognize a real need for strengthening defense forces and bringing aerial war equipment and personnel up to modern standards, it appears unlikely that such lavish expenditures as President Roosevelt favors will meet with either congressional or public approval.

Aside from his discussion of international affairs, President Roosevelt introduced little, if anything, new in yesterday's message.

His idealism again carried to consideration of the United States on an eighty billion dollar income basis, with possibilities for employment and greater prosperity at those fictitious figures, rather than dealing with conditions as they are and suggesting economies to bring expenditures within revenues.

Much as one might wish to decide otherwise, thoughtful consideration of President Roosevelt's ideas of attaining national prosperity by continuance of extravagant government spending, leaves the belief unchanged that any realistic approach to the task of providing additional private employment, contributing to the general welfare and re-establishing the country on a sound financial basis, must be made by Congress, freed of dictation from the executive branch of government.

Parking Meter Experiment.

CITY COUNCIL'S first step toward experimental installation of parking meters in designated blocks of some Mansfield business streets is in accord with plans already in effect in a number of other Ohio cities, designed to relieve congestion in close-in street parking and to provide more money for traffic supervision and enforcement of regulations intended for the safety and convenience of motorists and pedestrians.

When all arguments for and against parking meters have been presented and considered, the simple fact remains that the total of curb space on Mansfield business streets is insufficient to meet requirements of ALL motorists who find it convenient to use this space.

Enforcement of time limits for parking in restricted areas has been found impracticable, with obvious inclination on the part of a considerable number of motorists to park all day in some busy section, thus depriving many short-time parkers of space that would otherwise be available.

Rapid increase in the number of automobiles has produced a variety of traffic problems which officials, with co-operation of the public are called upon to solve. One of these has to do with the privilege of using the city's streets as parking places for automobiles.

Parking meters will not alone solve the problem of traffic congestion, but experience in other cities where they have been installed has shown that they help.

'Postalized' Railroads.

A REMARKABLE plan for railroad revival is proposed by John A. Hastings of New York, at a time when the whole complex problem of American railroads is being overhauled. He thinks the roads could be saved, and public transportation better served, by carrying people as we do letters—in great quantities at low, standardized rates.

We can send a letter from any point in the United States to any other point for three cents, or a plain postcard for one cent. Mr. Hastings would not mail people quite so cheaply, and he would recognize the greater cost of long trips by putting passenger fares on a regional basis. Even so, the basic rates suggested are astonishing.

Thus the minimum passenger coach fare between New York and Chicago, or any intermediate points, would be only $1, and for $5 a person could travel in a coach clear across the continent.

Comfort and luxury would cost more, just as you pay more for a special delivery letter than an ordinary one, and still more for a telegram. Thus parlor car fare within similar regional limits would be $3, local sleeper fare $5 complete, express reserved fare on a first class train $10, and de luxe fare on such a superlative train as the Twentieth Century Limited, $15. But there would be a big saving in every case, and heavier traffic would be expected to make up for the fare cuts.

As proposed, most people will say instantly that the scheme is impractical. The principle, however, may be worth discussing.

Complaint is being made that the "gl" is superfluous with many so-called "glamorous" girls.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—One significant development at the Lima conference not formally recorded was the breakdown of the rival "orbits," one led by the United States and the other by Argentina.

Ever since the first of the Pan-American meetings some 40 years ago two rival blocs have stalemated any true meeting of minds. Thus the evidence that these blocs had broken down was considered tremendously important by officials looking for an increasingly wholesome "get together" spirit in the Americas.

Two conditions perpetuated the bloc through the first 30 or more years of the Pan-American conference series. First was the natural rivalry between Argentina and the United States both on a commercial and political basis. Argentina was the most rapidly developing South American nation and further, produced two classes of commodities which contested directly with the United States for the South American market. The two were: meat and the various by-products (such as hides), and grain products, principally wheat.

Doctrine Caused Trouble.

THE second condition developing the blocs was the distrust of the United States engendered by our "overlord" interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine. In its inception, the doctrine simply pronounced the intention of the United States to keep further European influences out of the western hemisphere. It was strictly a one-nation declaration imposed upon the hemisphere by the United States regardless of whether it pleased the Latin-American neighbors.

In addition, the United States reserved a right of intervention in internal affairs of certain of the republics and exercised it notably in Cuba, Mexico, and Nicaragua. It galled the Latin spirit so that Argentina always found herself with several allies, including Brazil, Chile, Peru and Uruguay as a rule, to stand in the way of any U. S. proposals.

Repeatedly this group sought to have the United States waive any right of interference in the internal affairs of other American nations. Each time the United States side stepped, even as late as the Havanna conference in 1928.

Then in 1933 at the regular conference at Montevideo, the United States of its own accord announced it would keep out of the internal affairs of the other nations.

There was much skepticism among the southern nations in spite of the declarations, until there came real proof of U. S. sincerity. The proof came first in the case of Cuba. The United States withdrew the so-called Platt provision of the treaty with Cuba under which this country reserved the right to interfere. And a whole series of revolutions went on in Cuba without the United States landing a solitary marine.

Decision Pays Dividend.

MORE emphatic proof came in the case of Mexico when the U. S. observed a complete hands-off attitude in the long series of expropriations of foreign property culminating with the seizure of extensive oil properties.

Then came the Lima conference. The U. S. delegation went there hopeful that a united declaration of hemispherical solidarity would be worked out.

The rival blocs evident even at Montevideo five years earlier had shaken apart and Argentina was left alone. The 19 other Latin-American nations arrayed themselves with the United States favoring a fairly binding pledge of cooperation in hemispherical defense.

Modifications were made to meet the Argentine position but the new alignment indicated that early distrust of Yankee imperialism had faded.

ANOTHER CHANCE TO PERFORM

Farm Legislation May Be Costly

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—John Q. Public, who pays the tax bills, should cast his eye toward farm legislation which the 76th congress may consider.

Henry Wallace

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace wants a processing tax on wheat and cotton. He seeks additional revenue for benefit payments to farmers who plow under land or convert it to other uses than adding to the present surplusage of these two commodities. It's a fact that government and private warehouses already are overflowing with the bumper crops of the last planting season. Nobody denies that agriculture needs help. But Secretary Wallace's method of affording it?

The consumer's interest in this prospective legislation should be whetted because he will have to foot the bill in the form of an increased cost of the food he eats and the clothes he wears.

Secretary Wallace suggests that congress amend the farm act in only one particular—by the imposition of a processing tax of 30 cents per bushel on wheat, and an amount on cotton yet to be determined. Of the proposed wheat tax the secretary says:

"The processing tax is the surest way for wheat farmers to get their share of the national income. To consumers I would point out that a 30-cents-per-bushel-tax would mean only one-half a cent per 1-pound loaf of bread."

However, the Food Research Institute of Stanford univeristy, which has made a number of studies of wheat and flour consumption in the United States, calculates that Americans consume 155 pounds of flour per capita annually, the equivalent of eight-tenths of a barrel per person. The Millers' National Federation explains that it takes 4.6 bushels of wheat to make a barrel of flour, which, multiplied by the 30-cents-per-bushel tax, means the sizable impost of $1.38.

The census bureau showed our total population in 1930 to be 128,429,000.

Not So Trifling.

On the basis of the Food Research Institute's figures Americans use 102,743,200 barrels of flour yearly. Therefore Secretary Wallace's 30-cents-per-bushel-processing-tax will hit the family purse by the considerable sum of $141,785,616 annually.

The Millers' National Federation recently issued a leaflet on, "The Government Looks at Consumer Taxes," in which official federal treasury records were quoted relative to the processing taxes on food and fibres, including hogs, sugar, corn, wheat, rice, rye, peanuts, tobacco and cotton. These records show that, during the two-and-one-half-year-period, ensuing before the federal supreme court, in January, 1936, invalidated this form of taxation, the government's collections reached a total of $960,720,397.99—to be super-exact about it.

Hogs, wheat, cotton and sugar (four essential items which enter into the daily life of every citizen) accounted for nearly $867,000,000 of the total revenue collected through the processing tax levy.

Thus, if the average consumer doesn't want his market basket alarmingly weighted down with an increased tax load, it is worth his while to turn an anxious glance toward congress when Secretary Wallace's newest plan is presented.

The Farmer's Share.

True, the cotton raiser profits by the cotton tax but be pays through the nose for the wheat tax. And vice versa.

The cotton grower doesn't produce his own wheat. He has to buy his bread at retail, plus the tax on it. The wheat farmer also has to buy his clothes at retail. And, according to the Cotton Textile Institute, 'the processing levy, as applied to cotton, would account for approximately 8 per cent of the price paid by the consumer for a common work shirt, 11 per cent for a pair of overalls, 8 per cent for a popular grade of bed sheet, 9.5 per cent for a towel."

Of course the urban worker doesn't get any benefits whatever.

It goes without saying that the farmer, the industrial toiler and the trader ought to get together. But they don't do it.

A Memory That Lives.

Editor News-Journal:

In my diary for 1900 I found today a clipping from the Mansfield News of Friday Jan. 5, 1900—thirty-nine years ago—about the banquet which Publisher William S. Cappeller gave the previous evening at the Elks' lodge rooms on East Fourth street to the News force, including the carrier boys and a few other friends, a company of about a hundred folks, so my diary tells me.

William W. Carter, then city editor of the News, wrote up the event for the News, the article including fifteen stanzas of poetry that I wrote especially for the occasion and which, I recall, "W. S." enjoyed greatly. The verses mentioned Mr. Cappeller; William Carter, Stokes Hiestand, editor; Charlie Slough, business manager; Clair Abbott, "Jerry" Keffer, Historian A. J. Baughman, Jim Landis, Clarence (Katzy) Lindeman, Margaret Pfingstag, Sally Browning, Belle Fickel, Garfield Jones, Bob Gerhart, and others.

I note by my diary that "W. S." and my wife did a "cake-walk" on that memorable occasion.

What memories those verses brought up, and Bill Carter's story of the various features of the banquet.

What an interesting personality W. S. Cappeller was! It is 45 years since I first knew him and there comes to mind many instances of his kindness and his courtesies. I am glad that I knew him, and that his services to Ohio journalism have been recognized in making him one of the Immortals in the O. S. U. School of Journalism's Hall of Fame.

Alfalfa as Treatment for Humans.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A BUSY doctor friend of mine drove his automobile up beside mine in the parking place at the hospital the other day. Looming out of the back was a stack of green grass and clover.

"What in the world is that load you are hauling?" I asked.

"Alfalfa," he answered. "A dose or two for a patient of mine. Didn't you know that alfalfa is the very newest treatment?"

I did know it because alfalfa is supposed to be the best source of the new vitamin — vitamin K. And I had also heard a story of its efficiency, a story related by the chief of a great American hospital. But I had no idea its use was becoming so widespread.

Its use somehow reminds me of the famous retort Boswell made to Dr. Johnson—one of the times that Boswell scored on his antagonist. "Oats," said Dr. Johnson, "is a food for horses in England and for men in Scotland." "And where," observed Boswell, "will you find such horses and such men?" We are using alfalfa for cattle and invalids in America. And where will you find such healthy cattle and such well-cured invalids?

Relates Story.

The story which I heard goes as follows:

A woman was brought into this famous American hospital with jaundice. The jaundice had come on suddenly and deepened rapidly in three or four days. Up to the time of the onset she was perfectly well. She became, as the saying goes, "as yellow as a pumpkin."

Then she began to bleed from her nose, from the mucous membrane of her mouth, from the bowel, and clots of blood formed spontaneously under her skin.

It is well known that bile in the blood—which is what jaundice is—is liable to prevent the clotting of blood. Surgeons are very loath to do a surgical operation on a patient with jaundice for that reason.

It was evident that this woman had some impediment to the clotting of her blood, which accounted for the spontaneous hemorrhages from the nose, under the skin, etc. It was found by laboratory tests that the pro-thrombin in her blood was only five per cent of what it ought to be. Prothrombin is an element in the blood which is necessary for clotting.

Very Sick Woman.

The patient was very sick and going down hill. No treatment did her any good. Finally a new consultant was called in who said that he had heard of a disease of cattle, due to eating spoiled clover, and that it was cured by feeding alfalfa.

The woman's husband was chemist at a brewery, and on this hint he obtained a fresh supply of alfalfa and proceeded to concentrate it in a vat. In a day or two he appeared at the hospital with a green jelly-like mass, which was concentrated alfalfa.

This was fed to the patient, with immediate favorable results. She stopped bleeding with the second dose, and to the surprise and delight of everyone she recovered and walked out of the hospital hale and hearty.

So don't be surprised if you see your doctor riding around with what looks to be a truck garden in his car.

How Much Do You Owe Your Job?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SOMEWHERE along toward morning. Nice here tonight—everything smelling of spruce 'n' pine, candle-wax and buttered popcorn. Downstairs the kids have finished dancing . . . are squatting in front of the fire, going hammer 'n' tongs at one of their arguments. Five of them—grand youngsters, boys and girls — all either working at their first jobs or about to tackle 'em. So it's not hard to guess what they're debating—

"What's the smartest way to handle a job?

"Do just what you're asked and do it well . . .

"But don't let anyone make a sucker of you by piling on more time 'n' responsibility."

Shrewd, hard-working Sam started the ball rolling with that. Then big, serious, good-natured Gene countered with this—

"Naw, you're all wet! Give your boss and your job all you have. Do things without bein' asked even if they do keep you overtime. Make yourself so important that the boss can't do without you."

A mighty controversial question, that. And never more so than in 1939. Everywhere, employers and employes are wrangling over it . . . unions are making it a heated issue . . . and Dad is telling Son about all the overtime HE put in . . . the extra responsibility HE carried, with never a day passing without scores of indignant letters from Son, telling "what a sap Dad musta been to let himself be taken in like that."

But was he? I wonder. I'm of Dad's generation . . . even though I see most things through Son's eyes. But in this particular case, my vote goes to Dad rather than Son!

That's going to be hard to explain, since the average 1939 young worker can't possibly feel the same way about his job as his Dad and I did in 1909. To us, Jobs weren't just something we worked at . . . they were OUR LIFE. We didn't need them merely as a means of support . . . they were all the fun and adventure most of us would ever know. They didn't pay us just in dollars and cents . . . they paid us in excitement and local fame and self-respect. Economically, they were worth from $10 to $30 per week. But, rated by personal returns, they were beyond all price!

That's why Dad and I didn't mind working overtime in 1909 . . . or carrying responsibility and enduring hardship for which we'd never be paid. For we knew that THOUGH WE MIGHT NOT BE PAID IN DOLLARS WE WOULD BE PAID IN PRIDE AND DELIGHT BEYOND ALL RECKONING.

But the set-up isn't the same today. Precious few are the youngsters, today, who feel that their jobs are their lives. To the average modern youngster, his work is simply a source of revenue—and nothing else but. And there's a reason. Where Dad and I centered all our energy and enthusiasm on our daily working program, the 1939 youngster has scores of other interests.

He doesn't stop being a youngster when he starts working or gets married—as we did. He goes right on rah-rahing about football or fishing or politics or parties or horse racing or enjoying life generally. So, naturally, he doesn't see The Big Idea of giving any more than he needs to the Boss . . . and he's strong for any law which will keep Work Life strictly confined within definite time-clock limits!

Two widely different viewpoints. And I understand them both. But Dad still gets my vote. Not because I'm pulling for the Boss—but for purely selfish reasons. I've both played and plugged in my time.

But I've yet to see the Football Game, Fishing Trip, or Cocktail Party that pays a tenth as much, in joy and pride, AS YOUR OWN JOB—IF YOU'LL PLAY IT WITH ALL YOU HAVE!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In an obscure cabaret somewhere off Broadway she sings. She used to be famous, but that was a fame born of the most sensational court trial in a quarter-century. Her name is Evelyn Nesbit, but perhaps you remember her best as the girl who was at the old Madison Square Garden roof the opening night when Harry Thaw shot Stanford White.

White was the greatest architect of his day and a lion with the spending crowd. It became fashionable to attend openings of new "White" buildings. At the time of his death a new and unharmonious building had been completed by another architect, and people went about glibly saying Thaw had shot the wrong architect.

But the years hurry by, sugar, and White is just a memory. Even his buildings are out-moded and old fashioned. I saw Evelyn in a nightclub the other night on the east side. I wonder if she knows that it was the last building Stanford White ever built.

AT LUNCH the other day we sat next to a well-known student of human behavior. When the waitress asked him which dessert he preferred he said:

"You select it for me. Don't tell me—surprise me."

There was a tempting field to choose from, ranging from puddings to ambrosia, and in a few minutes the waitress returned with a thin plate which she placed before him.

"Thank you," he said courteously. But when she had gone he turned to me with a sad smile. "Too bad, isn't it? She's pretty, but she has no imagination."

"What do you mean?"

"She had a choice of 35 desserts," he shrugged, "and chose the most obvious of all—apple pie."

Which reminds me of something I heard about a man who became heavyweight champion of the world. We were talking about him in Dempsey's one night and Ned Brown, who used to write the fight column called "Pardon My Glove," said: "He got the title only because there was mediocre opposition. He had plenty of natural equipment but no imagination. I knew that a long time ago."

We asked for particulars.

"Well," said Ned, "when he was a kid someone gave him a dog and he named it Rover. I knew then there wasn't a spark of imagination to him."

OUR good turn for today will be to warn you away from "sample" parties. They are exciting but dangerous. They exact a cruel toll from those who participate.

What is a "sample" party? It's exactly what the name implies. They are given usually by restaurant owners who have had to deal with liquor salesmen throughout the year. Almost every day a different salesman presents his card and leaves a bottle or two with the restaurateur. These are samples and may not be sold. So the host-to-be heaves them into the cellar and waits until he has enough to give a party.

It is free, of course. But there is no rhyme to the refreshments. Your first glass may contain applejack, the second gin, the third port, the fourth absinthe, the fifth vodka, and so on and on until you are stiff or in a state of idiot's delight. When the samples are depleted the party breaks up. But sometimes the memory lasts for days.

A Farmer's Diary

The Hardy Dandelion.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WALKED along a little grassy strip that I did not plow last summer, for fear of washing. The soil is moist beneath, and the sod is well protected here, by hillocks, from the northwest winds.

Beneath the flattened grass, the head of a half opened curly dandelion emerged. The outside boll of leaves was black on the upper side, but when I pulled the large, compound flower upright upon its slender leathery stem, I found the protected side as fresh and green as in early autumn.

The golden threads were drab upon the ends, but within the meshes of the bloom, there was a soft, delicate touch that rivaled gossamer. The tiny hairs along the stem were white with frost, the upper leaves were stiff and glittered with small droplets, but those close to the crown were flexible and green.

No bees or other insects were there to gather nectar, if any flowed. It blossomed there, alone. No seeds will form, to float on lacy parachutes to distant fields. Except the chickweed which in mild winters blooms throughout the year, the dandelion is the hardiest and commonest bloom we have, about this section.

I got down on my knees and stooped to touch my nostrils to the yellow head. It had a slight, bitter, delightful, stimulating fragrance. I pushed a frozen chunk of earth away, and ran my finger down along the deep tap root of the plant. The small hole I had made seemed damp, but warm in contrast with the air, above. I felt the tiny touch of grass roots, too, and matted webs of partially decayed organic matter.

I strolled along the sheltered ditch that ran below the granite boulders near my path. And I knew that, beneath my feet, abundant life was moving still, in spite of winter storms.

U. S. CHALLENGE STIRS CONFLICT ON NEUTRALITY

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's challenge to aggressor nations stirred up a congressional conflict today over revision of the neutrality law.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the senate foreign relations committee interpreted a portion of the president's annual message as an invitation to congress to revamp the act, but he said there has been no suggestion as to the form the revision should take.

There were signs that any attempt to repeal the law would meet with strong senate resistance.

"The American people wrote that law," said Senator Nye (R-ND). "It was legislation to keep this country out of other people's wars. I don't believe that any force can repeal it."

The neutrality law directs the president to prohibit export of arms to warring nations. A "cash and carry" provision gives him power to limit shipments of supplies to those bought for cash and transported in vessels of the purchasing nation. A specific amendment bars arms shipments to Spain.

The president told congress yesterday that this country should avoid any action or lack of action that would encourage, assist or build up an aggressor.

Legislation 'Unfair.'

"We have learned that when we deliberately try to legislate neutrality," Mr. Roosevelt said, "our neutrality laws may operate unevenly and unfairly—may actually give aid to an aggressor and deny it to the victim. The instinct of self-preservation should warn us that we ought not to let that happen any more.

Pittman suggested a study of the question of restricting exportation of raw materials which can be converted to war uses. There now is no provision for an embargo on such materials.

Senator Nye, while opposing repeal of the neutrality law, said he would favor amendments to the "cash and carry" sections as well as complete repeal of the Spanish embargo act.

"By the embargo congress merely tied the hands of one party while the other Spanish faction had ready access to supplies and aid from Germany and Italy," Nye said.

"Any attempt to let the president pick the aggressor in an international dispute would be dangerous," he added. "I don't think the people or the congress would want it."

Nye said the neutrality act had strong bi-partisan support from such men as Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich), LaFollette (Prog-Wis), Wheeler (D-Mont), Bone (D-Wash) and Clark (D-Mo).

There was widespread praise of Mr. Roosevelt's outspoken denunciation of dictator nations.

Not all members of congress, however, voiced agreement with his general exposition of foreign policy. Senator Taft (R-Ohio), for instance, said the logical conclusion from the message "would seem to be another war with American troops sent across the ocean."

Seven peace organizations expressed disappointment with Mr. Roosevelt's views and plead for "calm and reason in world affairs."

Sen. Vic Donahey, Ohio Democrat, said he had no statement on the message immediately.

BOOSTS CLAIM

Prosecutor Asks $4,207 From Lumber Company.

County Prosecutor G. W. Marriott filed an amended petition today in his damage suit against the Tinkey Lumber company, Mansfield, increasing the amount of his request for damages from $588 to $4,207.

The prosecutor seeks damages for injuries suffered by his wife, Mrs. Rhea Marriott, in a traffic accident last February, damage to his automobile in the crash, and funds for medical care for Mrs Marriott.

Mrs. Marriott won a jury verdict for $3,800 in common pleas court last month in her $4,500 suit against the lumber firm as a result of the same accident, which involved a car she was driving and a truck operated by the lumber company.

MANSFIELDER TO LOSE STATE JOB

Among 64 Who Will Be Dropped From State Treasurer's Staff.

William Rogers, whose address was listed as Mansfield, will be one of 64 employes of the state treasurer's office who will lose their jobs next Monday when Republicans take over the state government, State Treasurer Clarence Knisley has announced.

Rogers has been employed in the treasurer's office for the past two years.

Knisley, who was defeated for re-election Nov. 8 by Don H. Ebright, Akron, may resign as treasurer before his term expires Monday to become a member of the state industrial commission, reports from Columbus said. Knisley's appointment as a member of the industrial commission was confirmed last week by the 92nd general assembly.

BALANCE FAILS TO CHEER CITY

year, Kelley said, was that no provisions have been made yet for the administration of relief, which is expected to cost the city $100,000 during 1939, and which would ordinarily be paid from the general fund.

Other reasons are the decreased intangible tax collections and sales tax receipts, which Kelley asserts are expected to remain at a low ebb during 1939.

Kelley also has estimated that the city's share of the gas tax money, distributed by the state, will fail to show any noticeable increase during 1939, thus prohibiting any extensive street improvements.

The general fund estimate is $288,070, exclusive of fire and police pensions which total $17,390. Last year, exclusive of pension appropriations of $25,360, the general fund was $276,879.

A total of $3,750 is also set up for public recreation, constituting the balance left in that fund as the result of a special tenth of a mill levy which expired two years ago. This is the same figure that was spent last year.

In the waterworks, Kelley estimates $136,383 as the amount available for 1939. Last year the department spent $125,240.

For the garbage department, Kelley lists $36,985 as the amount expected to be available this year, as compared with the $33,785 actually spent in 1938.

The sanitary sewer fund, proceeds of which are applied for the operation and maintenance of the sewage treatment plant, is estimated at $41,290 for 1939. Last year the department spent $34,665.

HIEBER TAKES KIWANIS HELM

Milo W. Hieber, commercial superintendent of the Mansfield Telephone company was seated as president of the Mansfield Kiwanis club at the annual installation of officers at a luncheon meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at noon today. Hieber succeeds Charles W. Conkin who has held the post for the past year.

Other officers installed were Ben Boals, first vice president; J. H. Glasener, second vice president, and Carlton S. Fernyak, who became secretary for the 12th successive year.

Seated on the board of directors for a two-year term were Wesley G. Carr, C. W. Fuchs, J. H. Glaesner, John W. Graham, E. A. McFarland, Rev. D. N. Roller, and Dr. O. H. Schettler.

Other members of the board who will carry through 1939 are Harold Balyeat, Boals, Scott Coffin, Conklin, Emerson S. Weller, Hieber, Judge C. H. Huston, and Otis Sowash.

The past president's pin was presented to retiring president Conklin by past president Dwight Smith and a traveling bag, a gift from the organization, was presented by Dr. W. H. Wolford.

Life Ends At 40— For Veteran Fire Station Steamer

The old coal stoked steam boiler mounted on a dilapidated buggy chassis sometimes inelegantly referred to as "old ironsides" is going to be junked.

"The boiler which has been used during the winter months to steam out frozen fire hydrants has been in the fire department for more than 40 years," the chief said. No one seems to know exactly when it was purchased.

But today a new shiny gasoline-stoked boiler arrived at the Central station. It cost the city $145, and it will be mounted on a two-wheeled rubber-tired chassis and the old one will probably go to some junk dealer for scrap.

PROF. FRANKFURTER

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—In Felix Frankfurter, born in Vienna of Jewish parents, President Roosevelt named for the supreme court today a man who has stated openly that the constitution is flexible enough to meet changing conditions.

The Harvard law school professor, whose bulging forehead is a prominent physical feature, is a man who has publicly agreed with an early statement of Charles Evans Hughes, now chief justice, that "the constitution is what the judges say it is." In him, too, the president found a man who viewed the court as a body whose decisions necessarily must be "entangled in political controversies."

A close adviser of the New Deal from its start, Frankfurter reputedly has had a hand in framing many of the Roosevelt administration's legislative recommendations, but, for the most part, he has been a silent partner.

The newly-appointed justice long has been known as a brilliant teacher of the law. Unconventional in his methods—he frequently begins speaking as he strides through the classroom on his way to the platform. An apostle of thoroughness, he demands no more of his students than he himself accomplished in his own educational career.

Born Nov. 15, 1882, the son of a long line of rabbis, he arrived in this country in 1894, a 12-year-old who spoke not a word of English. Twelve years later he had made his way through the New York public schools and the College of New York, and was graduated from Harvard law school with highest honors.

LUTZ NAMED TO 3 COMMITTEES

Richland Representative to Serve on Finance, Insurance and Conservation Groups.

Ralph C. Lutz of Lexington, Richland county representative to the general assembly, yesterday was named on three committees in the house of representatives, including the important finance and conservation committees, at the close of the first weekly session of the new assembly.

In addition to the finance and conservation committees, Lutz, a Democrat, was appointed to the insurance committee. Lutz, beginning his third term as representative, was re-elected last November.

Also appointed to three house committees was Representative Kenneth M. Petri of Crawford county who will serve on the taxation, judicial and banks and banking committees.

J. F. Church, Republican representative from Ashland county, was appointed to the committees on elections, highways and state buildings, and parks and public works. Church is serving his first term.

With the new house of representatives predominantly Republican, chairmanship of the important taxation and finance committees went to Republicans.

Representative Floyd Mees of Meigs county will head the taxation group and R. R. Bangham, Clinton county representative, is chairman of the finance committee.

GROUP ELECTS

2 County Youth Organizations Name Officers for 1939.

Officers of two Richland county youth groups were announced today.

One of the groups, the Richland County Youth Co-op, named Junior Humphrey, president; Walter Berry, vice president; Phyllis Snider, secretary; Alberta Laws, assistant secretary; Rhea Downs, treasurer; Mariam Bishop, assistant treasurer.

The two groups will hold an oyster supper Jan. 18 at Johns park pavilion.

RADIO PREACHER TO SPEAK HERE

Rev. Morton of Canada to Speak at First M. E. Church Tuesday.

Rev. C. L. Morton of Windsor, Ont., widely known radio pastor, and one of the leading colored preachers in the middle west, will speak at the First Methodist Episcopal church at 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday under the auspices of the Mitchell Chapel A. M. E. church.

Rev. Morton's church services and sermon are broadcast every Sunday from CKLW and he also has a program on the air every Thursday at 2 a. m., which is sent from coast to coast.

The churchman will bring with him the singers who are heard regularly on his radio programs, and his wife, who is his soloist.

Rev. H. B. Brightman, pastor of Mitchell Chapel, announced that the address and musical program would be open to the public.

GALION — Officers who have been elected by the Polk township school board at the regular meeting Monday night are: President, F. D. Zimmerman; vice president, C. W. Stumph; clerk, H. E. Nungesser. Nungesser succeeds H. B. Stevens who had served as clerk for 20 years. Other members of the board are Stevens and Fred H. Fortney.

headquarters, and my Dad's a Democrat."

"I like it because it's right down town," a girl said. "If you're lucky enough to sit on the west side of the front rooms, you can see everything on Main street. I can't keep my mind on my lesson—but it's more fun going to school this way."

Harry J. Dotson, principal of John Simpson, was equally pleased—but from a different angle. "It is working out much better than we had hoped," he said today. "At first the youngsters were inclined to ridicule the idea of going to classes in a downtown store room, but when they saw the nine comfortable, well lighted rooms, with steel desk-chairs, they began to take an interest in their new quarters, and now I think that teachers and pupils alike are very well pleased."

Another interesting angle from the viewpoint of the students is the traffic. There was some apprehension at first about downtown traffic, but they have found, according to Principal Dotson, that it is slower and better regulated by lights than that which whizzes by the John Simpson location at Fourth and Bowman.

All 9th grade classes are being held in the Warner building, while the home economics and vocational classes are being held at 20 Bowman street, which was formerly an auto sales room. Teachers are pleased with the light, well ventilated rooms, while pupils have already began to "feel at home."

But in spite of the interest in the new school quarters, a number of students view the razing of the old building with something of sentiment and regret—as evidenced by the boy who was carrying a brick away from there yesterday. Not a fancy brick, but just a plain, chipped brick.

"Gonna take it home and keep it for a souvenir," he said. "My dad and mother went to school there too, and it's kinda like losing an old friend. I'll put this brick in with my other stuff."

PLAN INSTITUTE

Committees Named for Sessions at Weller School.

Committees had been appointed today to arrange for the Weller-Mifflin-Franklin Community Farmer's institute which will be held Feb. 10 and 11 in the Union rural school.

Named on the program committee were J. E. McCullough, E. R. Hershey and Mrs. Harvey Oswalt. Mrs. Ozra Ferrell was appointed chairman of a committee to conduct a poster contest in the schools preceding the institute.

Mrs. Hugh Osbun will head a committee to arrange exhibits to be set up at the school during the institute sessions.

Mrs. J. B. Lane of Massillon and Charles W. Peters of Minerva will be the speakers. A play will be presented at the Saturday night session by the Franklin Epworth league.

Youths Held in Liquor Thefts at Akron, Former Inmates.

Two 19-year-old youths who gave their names as Joe Blatt and Mike Morris, held by Akron police in connection with the theft of 15 cases of liquor from a state liquor store at Akron Nov. 13, will be returned to the Mansfield reformatory as parole violators, Akron police said yesterday.

Records at the reformatory, however, list no former inmates with the names the youths gave authorities, and attaches at the institution said the pair probably used aliases when arrested.

Police at Akron said the youths admitted taking the liquor. Four other men were arrested at Canton in connection with the same case.

The pair accused of concealing the liquor, valued at $470, said they gave it away as Christmas gifts.

BUCYRUS—Rev. and Mrs. David Mumford were called to York, Pa., Wednesday by the death of Mrs. Mumford's father, Rev. Robert Lee Bair, who died following a three-year illness. A recent automobile accident aggravated his condition. Mrs. Mumford is the only child. The widow also survives.

In some quarters it was believed possible that with Prof. Frankfurter's nomination, Justice Brandeis may now retire. He is in his 82nd year, has served 23 years on the high court, and recently was reported as having told President Roosevelt that he desired to retire. The president is said at that time to have dissuaded him.

Also, in this connection, a story has been current around the capitol for weeks to the effect that Justice James Clark McReynolds, implacable opponent of the New Deal, and a conservative of the old school, had told friends he would retire if Frankfurter were appointed to fill the Cardozo vacancy. There was never any confirmation or denial of the story.

Prof. Frankfurter will be 57 years old next November. He is a native of Austria, born in Vienna on Nov. 15, 1882. He came to the United States with his parents when he was 12 years old.

HOUSING BOARD MEETS TODAY

Authority to Hold Organization Session at City Building; Has No Funds Yet.

Mansfield's newly appointed Metropolitan Housing Authority, created to conduct a proposed $2,000,000 low cost housing program here was to meet with Mayor Claude M. Hunter this afternoon to organize.

Mayor Hunter said the group, which was to meet in his office, would elect officers, enabling it to seek government funds with which to erect a model housing community in Mansfield.

The mayor said that George Kyle, former chairman of the citizens committee which conducted a slum clearance survey here several months ago and petitioned the state housing board for permission to set up a MHA in Mansfield would review preliminary activity.

Members of the authority, appointed Dec. 22, by city and county officials are P. W. Backenstos, C. N. Shultz, Carl H. Stander, M. Dale Ward, sr., and Joseph Scanlon.

Hunter said the authority still had hopes of obtaining government funds to conduct the program here, although officials in Washington have announced that the $800,000,000 voted by congress for slum clearance had been allocated.

The mayor said he had figures, that showed that the state of Ohio had been allocated $65,000,000 for low cost housing purposes but of that amount only $27,000,000 had been approved for loans by officials in Washington. The new congress is expected to provide additional funds for slum clearance.

HURT CHRISTMAS EVE, DIES

DAYTON—(AP)—William E. Miller, 54, died in a hospital here today of injuries sustained last Christmas eve when struck by an auto.

Best Cough Remedy Is Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get the quickest imaginable relief from coughs due to colds, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll never be without it in your home, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

BATTLES FORM IN CONGRESS

G. O. P. and Conservative Dems Charge Roosevelt Policies Threat to Peace.

Seek Revisions.

Bi-partisan groups were prepared to seek revision of much of this "new machinery." They have demanded repeal of the reciprocal trade treaty act, curtailment of the powers of the National Labor Relations Board, overhaul of farm legislation, liberalization of old-age pension provisions of the Social Security act, and in relief administration.

Relief became the number one internal problem and the first target for anti-New Deal attacks. The senate campaign expenditures committee report accused relief officials in several states of political activity. Works progress administration funds will be depleted nearly a month ahead of schedule.

The president asked congress to appropriate between $700,000,000 and $750,000,000 to continue WPA until the fiscal year ends, June 30. Opponents of the present relief system were waiting the beginning of debate to offer varied plans to "take politics out of relief" or abolish WPA and turn its functions over to the states.

Map Counter Attacks.

Administration leaders hoped to repulse these attacks by agreeing to certain innovations, including the creation of non-partisan boards in every county to investigate complaints of political activity. They also revealed that Mr. Roosevelt has extended civil service, effective Feb. 1, to approximately 35,000 WPA administrative officials.

Two Republican senators, prominently mentioned as possible 1940 presidential candidates, plunged quickly into the anti-administration fight. Both issued formal statements.

"The president is frankly off on a spree with the spenders," said Sen. Arthur H. Vanderberg, Mich. "The boot-strap lifters have him."

Newly-elected Sen. Robert A Taft (R-Ohio), said that "It is unbelievable to me that anyone would advance the president's new philosophy of so-called government investment. It is the old pump-priming program dressed up in new language."

"The president boasts of the accomplishments of his administration," he added, "but is forced to admit that it has completely failed to cure the basic problem of unemployment, and the suffering which accompanies unemployment."

PRESENTS MAGIC SHOW

SHELBY—E. J. Moore, a magician, will present a program Tuesday night at the high school auditorium. The program will be sponsored as a benefit for the junior class of the school.

ALL-STARS PLAY

SHELBY — The Shelby "All-Stars" will meet the Vermilion Pontiac team in a basketball game at 8 p. m. today at the high school gym. Glenn Irey, Gene Gates, Bob Fisher, Karl Giller and Henry Betts, former Shelby high school players, play with the "All-Star" team. A preliminary game will be played between the Shelby 7th and 8th grade team and a team selected from the same grades at Mansfield John Simpson at 7 p. m.

BERLIN LASHES DICTATOR DIGS

about the democracies and religion. There was no editorial comment.

It was the liberal Manchester Guardian which contrasted the president's declaration against "dictatorship" with Prime Minister Chamberlain's "timid exercises in the same field," presumably in pursuit of his policy of appeasing the dictators to maintain world peace.

"Most English men and women, when they listened to President Roosevelt, must have wished sadly that it was the head of their own government who was saying these things," the Guardian said.

The German Zeitung Am Mittag charged the speech was based on "gross atrocity lies" and stated that "Washington's new policy seems to be to preach blind hatred and unscrupulous estrangement between the two continents."

Asserting Germany knew "this orator speaks only for himself" the newspaper added that "the American people want peace and not the unrest which Roosevelt so assiduously preaches."

Officials in most capitals were reluctant to comment in view of the unstable European condition and Prime Minister Chamberlain's imminent visit to Premier Mussolini in Rome.

Italian Fascists dismissed the speech as "needless alarm.' President Roosevelt "is arousing fears of aggression that do not exist," Il Popolo Di Romo said. Il Messagero said that "Roosevelt is pessimistic over the fate of democracy."

France:

The Paris press, both right and left in sympathies, reported the speech favorably with long excerpts, emphasizing the prospect of neutrality law revision.

British foreign office officials clearly approved the address but indicated that official enthusiasm might be "inconvenient" later in dealing with dictatorships.

WED IN INDIANAPOLIS

KNUTE ISN'T ORDINARY BUM

I'm an irrepressible Optimist. I love life, I think the world is filled with beauty which is free. . .

"And when you, my prosaic, work-bound, trouble-ridden friend, were chained to a desk and worried stiff about your job during the depression, I was riding on top a freight train, half way between Heaven and the Singing Rails, with an inverted Bowl of Blue over me and a flying carpet of green around me. . . ."

Hofius is indeed a philosopher.

"I quit school after the third grade and just in time—Heaven knows what would have happened if I had taken a chance on another year.

"I know people, too," he admitted, "and houses. I know just where to ask for a hand-out and where not to . . . Now take a house where the blinds are drawn just so, most of the way down, shutting out the sunshine. I pass by that house . . . But if a house has flowers — petunias, pansies, forget-me-nots — or a bird in a cage at the window and a cat sleeping on the sill—I know I'll get a good hand-out there. . . .

"And you soon learn how to approach the Ladies who answer the rap at the back door . . . If she has very thin lips tightly pressed together, you have just one chance of getting anything—you can say that it's the Christian Ladies like her that keep the Unfortunate from starving. . . .

"But if the Lady is about 35 and has her hair combed and make-up on, your best approach is to ask if her mother is at home—and look surprised when she admits she is the lady of the house.

2 Sad Days For Bums.

Hofius drinks just twice a year. "Memorial day and Christmas day," he explained. "They're the saddest days in the year—Memorial day is just naturally sad, and the Christmas lights on streets and in homes remind the Bum that there are no lights for him. I usually get plastered then. I saved up $79 for this Christmas—and I've got 13 cents left. The drunker I get the more homesick I get. That's why I'm on my back to Middlesex, Pa., right now. I got unusually stiff this year and I got to thinking about my mother and I'm going gack to see her. She's on old age pension and has no one but herself to keep. She doesn't have to contribute a thing to my support—isn't that fine?"

He chuckled at his own good humor. When Hofius went out the door, he took with him the price of a good dinner. . . .

But it was worth it. Because he left behind something very gay and merry. . . . Life was no longer just a routine of days and clacking typewriters. . . . Spring is only a few weeks away and there will be the Open Roads. . . .

SCOUT ROLLS HIT NEW HIGH

Boy Scout memberships in the Johnny Appleseed area reached a new high in 1938 with a total registration of 1,124, Floyd Dent, area scout executive, announced today.

Scout enrollment today are the highest in the history of the area, and are an increase of 280 over the same period a year ago, Dent said.

On Jan. 1, 1938, there were 844 registered in the area, 781 scouts and 63 cubs. Today there are 1,024 scouts and 100 cubs. Cubbing is a branch of the scout movement for boys who are under the age requirements.

The previous high mark in the area was set in May, 1938, when the membership reached 1,031.

During 1938 nine new scout troops, two new cub packs and two senior scout groups were organized. The new scout troops added are No. 1 of Perrysville, No. 1 of Plymouth, No. 1 of Nova, No. 1 of Lexington, No. 3 of Ashland, No. 20 of Mansfield, and Nos. 2, 3 and 5 of Galion. New Cub Packs were formed in Galion and Ashland and a Rover group was organized in Mansfield and an Explorers troop was formed in Loudonville.

SPURT IN LAST 2 MONTHS MARKS NEW CAR SALES

County Buys Less Than Half as Many as in '37, But Ends Year With Flourish.

Richland countians purchased less than half as many new automobiles last year as in 1937, but new car sales in the county for the last two months of 1938 forged well ahead of figures for the same months in 1937.

A total of 1,221 new cars were purchased last year as compared with 2,822 in 1937, figures compiled by Norman P. Henry, deputy county clerk of courts, showed today.

Sale of new trucks in the county last year held up better than automobiles, with 175 trucks sold, a drop of 89 from sales for the preceding year.

Pass 1937 Figures.

The revival of business and earlier introduction of new models were credited with the spurt in car sales in the final two months of the past year. In November, county auto dealers sold 156 new cars as against 129 in November, 1937, while the gain in December 1938 was even greater. Sales last month totaled 182, nearly double the 99 sold in December, 1937.

December was the best month for county automobile dealers last year, but March topped the list in 1937 with 396 new cars sold, more than double the sales in any single month last year.

Sales of new cars by the month in the county in 1938 were:

January, 55; February, 70; March, 148; April, 126; May, 114; June, 84; July, 78; August, 83; September, 40; October, 85; November, 156, and December, 182.

Khyber In Color.

Sabu, the handsome East Indian youngster who made a hit in "Elephant Boy," makes his second film appearance in "Drums," which is being shown at the Madison for the remainder of the week. This is probably the first time that the Khyber country of India, which is replete with English army history, has ever been shown in natural colors in the films. "Drums," with an exciting story, is in technicolor.

Niven Scores.

David Niven, who has worked hard for his place in the cinema sun, takes a forward leap in "Dawn Patrol" with his performance of Scotty, the hard-boiled, hard-drinking aviator of the Royal Flying Corps, who watches youngsters go to their deaths in the air, but can't take it when his own kid brother is one of them. It is the best thing he has done on the screen. Errol Flynn, Basil Rathbone and Donald Crisp also give good account of themselves in this Ohio theater feature.

Too Handsome?

Richard Greene, the handsome young Englishman, who made his American film debut in "Four Men and a Prayer," is handicapped by the same factor that threatened to cripple the career of Robert Taylor—he's too good looking for every day use in pictures. His curly hair, dimples and cameo-clear features have hindered rather than helped him. But he did get a good break in this film, for it has been listed one of the best of the year. Loretta Young, C. Aubrey Smith, David Niven and George Sanders have major roles. The Ritz shows it Friday and Saturday.

A Hardy Story.

One of the first of the Judge Hardy stories, "Judge Hardy's Children," is the Majestic feature for Friday and Saturday. This is the episode in which the popular Hardys go to Washington where the Judge is on an important investigating committee, and also the one in which Andy (Mickey Rooney) acquires a dinner suit. Cecilia Parker, Lewis Stone and Fay Holden make up the Hardy family. The second feature is a western.

Vice Crusade.

A vice crusade in a big city, with law enforcement lined up against organized gambling, and the development of a boy who goes through reform school are the principal forces in "Hell's House," an early Bette Davis film in which Pat O'Brien is the villain and Junior Durkin the hero. "Motive for Revenge" with Donald Cook and Irene Hervey is also being shown at the Park.

Weinberger's Drug

Book of the Week

"AFTER THE DEATH OF DON JUAN," by Sylvia Townsend Warner; (Viking: $2.50).

THE publishers of Sylvia Townsend Warner's "After the Death of Don Juan" have made a serious mistake in calling the book a fantasy. This is not a fantasy, nor even a bouquet of whimsy a la Milne or Morley. This is perfectly serious and straightforward writing on a slightly different plane from that upon which we live our so-called normal lives.

It is also the best writing Miss Warner has done since "Lolly Willowes" and probably one of the most amusing books of 1939. Here is the idea, reduced to an almost absurd simplicity.

Miss Warner begins with the supposed death of Don Juan in the latter part of the 18th century. Don Juan had had a certain Dona Ana on his hands—as is always the case in Spain. Juan was supposedly pursuing Dona Ana hand over heels, and of course actually it was the other way about.

But most unfortunately Juan and Dona Ana's father meet, and Juan kills the father. Promptly the father is buried and a fine statue erected; Juan visits the cemetery, invites the statue to a dinner, and according to the story told by Juan's oily valet, Leporello, the father accepts, and the net result of the dinner is that Juan is translated to hell, leaving Leporello to try to collect money to settle the bills from Juan's long-suffering father, Don Saturno.

Now begin Miss Warner's sly tricks. Dona Ana is married to a handsome and impecunious clotheshorse. She horrifies everybody and especially her husband by deciding to break the news of Juan's death to his father herself, and setting out in a crape-hung train of carriages for the purpose. It is a long and boring journey over dreadful roads, and when it is over Don Saturno's cleverness seems dullness itself to Ana and her husband. But one thing or another holds the couple at Tenorio Viejo, where the castle and the peasantry are at variance over certain matters. These matters are brought to a head by the return of Don Juan.

From there on Miss Warner must finish. For this reader the book is not only a delicious portrait of life in 18th century Spain, but one which calls a spade a spade, right out loud.

Mansfield Insurance Concerns Help Form New Mutual.

A consolidation involving two Mansfield insurance concerns was announced today by C. Dale Horner, assistant secretary of the Mansfield Mutual Fire Insurance company.

The new organization will be comprised of three agencies and will have its headquarters in Mansfield. It will be known as the Consolidated Mutuals, and will be made up of the Mansfield Mutual, the Merchants and Manufacturers Mutual Insurance company of Mansfield, and the Ohio Mutual Insurance company of Salem. Horner will be general manager of the consolidated group.

The financial position of the group shows $1,200,000 assets of which $900,000 is surplus above all liabilities, according to Horner.

The Consolidated Mutuals will adhere to the agency plan. For the time being they will confine their operations to the state of Pennsylvania, the three individual companies maintaining their separate identities in other territory.

Arquette Rust, jr., Mansfield, has been named agency supervisor for the group.

25 DAIRIES PASS INSPECTION, GET GRADE 'A' RATING

All Plants Distributing Milk in City Meet Sanitation Requirements.

With the completion by health department sanitation officers today of a periodical inspection of Mansfield's milk supply, Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, announced that all 25 milk distributors selling dairy products in the city had received a grade "A" rating.

Dr. Rehder said that 17 raw milk dairies and eight pasteurizing plants, distributing milk products in Mansfield, had successfully met all the sanitary requirements in the production of grade "A" products.

The 17 dairies distributing grade "A" raw milk are: Brownlea, Campbell, Cox, J. Daubenspeck, R. Daubenspeck, Fisher, Hickory Hall, Kisling, Locust Spring, Lokshello, Maple Leaf, Merrybrook farm, Pinehurst, Pleasant View, Priess, Raemelton farm and Spring Valley.

Semi-Annual Inspection.

The grades were announced in accordance with semi-annual inspection of all milk plants and dairies as required by the U. S. Public Health Service milk ordinance adopted by the Mansfield board of health four years ago and ordered carried out a year ago.

The ordinance restricts milk sold in Mansfield to grade "A" raw milk and grades "A" and "B" pasteurized milk.

The distributors were graded in accordance with their compliance with sanitary provisions embodied in the ordinance governing the product itself and its production and distribution.

Dr. Rehder said that the results of the inspection in finding that all distributors in the district had retained their high sanitation rating were "gratifying in that Mansfield is guaranteed a high quality milk supply."

HIGHWAY HEAD FOUND GUILTY IN FOUR HOURS

Jury Finds He Solicited Funds for Davey From Two Civil Service Employes.

Returning to Columbus after conviction by a Mt. Vernon jury yesterday on two of six counts charging him with soliciting campaign contributions from state civil service employes, State Highway Director Ivan R. Ault prepared today to seek a new trial.

A jury of six men and six women found Ault guilty yesterday of seeking funds for Gov. Martin L. Davey's futile primary campaign from Robert Greenlun and John Jones, both employes of the Ashland highway division.

The maximum penalty on each count is a $500 fine or six months in jail or both.

Ault, who was division engineer at Ashland at the time of the alleged solicitations, was acquitted on four counts. Three other charges were dismissed as the trial began Tuesday.

The jury returned the verdict at 5:30 p. m. after four hours of deliberation.

New Trial Motion Filed.

Defense Attorney F. D. Schell filed a motion for a new trial soon after the verdict was returned yesterday, but his motion was not immediately ruled upon.

The prosecution presented witnesses who testified that the former division chief had threatened them with the loss of their jobs unless they contributed to the campaign fund. The defense rested unexpectedly yesterday without offering a single witness, Atty. Schell explaining that "the state has not made a case."

Ault who was indicted by an Ashland county jury several months ago obtained a change of venue to Knox county. He was named highway director by Gov. Davey when John J. Jaster, jr., former director, and several division engineers resigned shortly after the November election.

Similiar charges are pending in Franklin county against 17 supporters of Davey. All have pleaded innocent.

Capone Pays U. S. $37,000 But Still Owes It $20,000

CHICAGO —(AP)—The government still has $20,000 coming from Al Capone but it will be ready when it's called for, his attorney said today.

Abraham Teitelbaum, counsel for the former Chicago gang lord, delivered a check for $35,000 and $2,692.29 in cash to the federal court clerk yesterday.

That represented the court costs and fines assessed Capone after his conviction on three felony counts charging failure to pay income tax.

"We had a hard time raising it," remarked the attorney.

Upon his release from Alcatraz Island prison, Capone must serve an additional year in a county jail and pay a $20,000 fine for failure to file income tax returns.

C. S. MYERS, 81, TAKEN BY DEATH

Long Illness Ends For Ashland County Man; Rites Saturday.

ASHLAND—Clinton G. Myers, 81, died Wednesday afternoon at his home in Lattasburg, near here, following a lingering illness.

Born Nov. 6, 1857 at New Pittsburgh, Mr. Myers had made his home in Lattasburg for the past 35 years. He was a member of the Red Haw Evangelical church.

Surviving are his wife, Emma; a sister, Mrs. S. E. Steltzer of near Lattasburg, and three brothers, Charles and Stephen of near Lattasburg and Irvin of Wadsworth.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the family home with Rev. W. L. Mullett of Wooster officiating, assisted by Rev. L. E. Hall of Red Haw. Burial will be in Mennonite cemetery near Chester, in Ashland county.

Hits $10,000,000 Sales Tax Leak In Ohio

REPORT BLAMES STATE'S LAXITY IN COLLECTIONS

Commission Outlines 3-Point Program to Solve Relief Revenue Problem.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—The Ohio unemployment relief study commission, charging that "lack of proper enforcement" is costing the state from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 a year in sales tax, recommended today a program which it claimed would solve Ohio's relief financing problem.

The commission, established last summer by the legislature, contended in a report made public by its chairman, Sen. William M. Boyd of Cleveland, that the program would make available for relief $29,400,000 annually.

Outlines Program.

Three major steps are outlined in the report:

1. Plug leaks in sales tax collections.

2. Coordinate relief and social security agencies under one head.

3. Annual return by counties of unused relief funds.

Sources of revenue making up the estimated $29,400,000 yearly relief fund were outlined by the commission as: $10,000,000 a year allotted to relief from the sales tax in the past two years; $10,000,000 from the same source through proper enforcement; $2,400,000 by repeal of the discount for handling sales tax stamps; $2,000,000 by repeal of farm exemptions; $3,000,000 by coordination of relief agencies, and $2,000,000 in unused state relief funds currently converted into general county funds.

The commission reported that Ohio collected approximately $60,000,000 from its 3 per cent sales tax in 1936, $50,000,000 in 1937, and $38,000,000 in 1938.

"The sum of $10,000,000 must be allowed for food taxed in 1936 and exempt in 1938," the report said, "but what has happened to the other $12,000,000? Only one conclusion can be drawn, Ohio is losing somewhere between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 a year due to lack of proper enforcement of sales tax law.

"The vendor is failing to give the stamps and the consumer fails to take and destroy the stamps, and the state does not get the tax whether or not the consumer has paid it."

The report said that in other states in which there is a 3 per cent sales tax substantially higher returns were received. From July 1, 1937, to June 30, 1938, the commission pointed out, Ohio collected $42,760,473, Michigan $58,173,579, Illinois $80,206,483 and California $86,658,195.

Up and Down THE STREET

Asserting that "I was in water only up to my knees," Assistant County Prosecutor Harold T. Lutz today denied what he described as "wild stories" about his rescue from drowning the other day near Butler. Hunting over the holidays, Lutz fell through the ice on Clearfork creek in the southeastern part of the county and allegedly was calling for help when his companion, Clarence Dillon, veteran Mansfield mail carrier, pulled him out. "I did call for help," Lutz said, "but I did that to add a little color to the story."

Monotony of routine work at the Chamber of Commerce office was shattered yesterday when an elderly visitor from Jersey City came in for information. He introduced himself and held out his card. When Paul W. Williams, secretary, reached for the card, it wasn't there. But the genial visitor found it immediately — under Williams' coat collar. A magician with more than ordinary dexterity in handling cards, he entertained the office with his sleight of hand feats for a half hour. Later he stopped at several stores and put on the same free show.

Three fire trucks, sirens screaming and manned by 12 firemen, and Fire Chief C. J. Seeburger in his bright red chief's car, roared through downtown Mansfield shortly before noon today on the way to a fire—at least alarm system indicated there was one. Arriving at the scene—the Bissman Grocery company on North Main street—they found instead of a fire, a break in the sprinkler system in the grocery warehouse which had set off the alarm. The chief estimated the call cost the city $15.

Economical traveling reached a sort of climax yesterday when a young fellow, hitch-hiking his way from New York to Chicago, stopped here for a little while. He was making the jaunt on a bet that he could go from New York to Chicago on 25 cents. When he reached here he had just a nickel left to tide him over the last 300 miles. But he was making pretty good time, having "thumbed" the first 580 miles in 48 hours.

LAWYER DIES OF HEART ATTACK

A. S. Leuthold, 64, Bucyrus Attorney, Succumbs After Collapsing in Court.

BUCYRUS—Alfred S. Leuthold, 64, prominent Bucyrus attorney, died in the Smith Clinic in Marion today, less than 24 hours after he collapsed while trying a case in the common pleas court there. He was removed to the clinic yesterday. Death was due to a heart attack.

Mr. Leuthold practiced law in Bucyrus for 40 years. A graduate of Ohio Northern, he was a former law partner of J. Walter Wright, former common pleas judge of Bucyrus. The partnership was dissolved in 1910.

Born in Switzerland, Nov. 11, 1874, Mr. Leuthold came to this country with his parents at the age of 10. His parents later moved to Crawford county. After his graduation from college, he taught school in this vicinity for five years before taking up law as a profession.

He was a Spanish-American War veteran and was a member of the veterans' organization, United Brethren church and Crawford county bar association.

Surviving are his wife, Hattie; two sons, Warren and Emerson of Bucyrus; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Deare, who is a practicing attorney in New Washington; three sisters, Louisa of Bucyrus, Mrs. Katherine Bohn and Mrs. Rosa Welty of near Bucyrus, and four brothers, David, John and Gottfried, near Bucyrus, and Samuel, a Bucyrus real estate dealer.

The body was removed to the Wise funeral home. Arrangements are incomplete.

TACKLE BUDGET

County Officials Put Finishing Touches on 1939 Measure.

County commissioners and County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe today were giving the finishing touches to the county's 1939 appropriation which is expected to show a slight reduction from the $345,000 provided for operation last year.

Principal item contributing to the anticipated decrease is a $10,000 drop in the amount set up for care of the county's tuberculosis patients in hospitals outside the county.

Commissioners have asked the hospital in which county patients are treated to permit the county to delay its payments until later this year, or until funds can be borrowed against a half-mill levy which becomes operative next year.

For the first time this year the county must provide a $5,000 fund for the county's contribution to the state public employes retirement system, matching payments of the appointive county workers who are participating in the pension plan.

RITES HELD FOR EX-MANSFIELDER

A. W. Yambert, 74, was Father of Mrs. Boyd Wierman.

Funeral services were held Monday at Risingsun, O., for A. W. Yambert, 74, former Mansfield resident and father of Mrs. Boyd Wierman, 1090 Park avenue west, who died Saturday night at a Findlay hospital following an illness of several months. Burial was made in South Bend cemetery near McCutchensville, O.

Born Feb. 24, 1864, at McCutchensville, in Wyandot county, Mr. Yambert lived in Mansfield until six years ago when he moved to Risingsun. He was a member of St. Matthew's Lutheran church here.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Vaice of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. Wierman, and a son, Dale, of Fountain City, Tenn. He was preceded in death by his wife four years ago.

WILL FUNERAL FRIDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna M. Will, 77, who died at her home in East Mansfield Tuesday after a brief illness, will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 2 p. m. Friday with Rev. E. G. Corwin of the First M. E. church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body is at the funeral home.

LAKEWOOD RESEARCH EXPERT TO ADDRESS MANSFIELD TEACHERS

Dwight L. Arnold, director of research and guidance in the Lakewood public schools, will address members of the Mansfield City Teachers' association next Monday at 4 p. m. at Senior high auditorium.

Arnold received his doctor's degree in education at Ohio State university where he did his graduate work in clinical psychology and education, and afterward worked for a year at the university as research assistant.

DWIGHT L. ARNOLD

At Lakewood he has charge of the achievement and intelligence testing, research projects and improvement, and the coordination of the school guidance program.

The subject of his Mansfield talk will be "Guidance—Just Another Fad or a Significant Change." He will discuss the importance of guidance in school work and the teachers' responsibilities in improving their own work.

The meeting will be in charge of Harold C. Miller, Senior high instructor and president of the City Teachers' association. Music will be furnished by three Senior high musicians, Dale Bechtel, Robert Early and Richard Sparks.

DIES AT AGE 76

Mrs. Mary Heckert, Bucyrus, Stricken at Son's Home.

GALION—Mrs. Mary Heckert, 76, of Bucyrus, died this morning at the home of her son, Ernest Stoneburner at Iberia, of cerebral hemorrhage after being confined to her bed for the past seven months.

Mrs. Heckert was born in Wyandot county, Sept. 12, 1862. In 1889 she was married to Samuel Stoneburner, who died 37 years ago. In 1918, she married Emanuel Heckert who survives her. Mrs. Heckert was taken to Iberia seven months ago when she became ill.

Besides her husband she is survived by three sons; Ernest and Earl Stoneburner of Iberia, and Lester of Columbus. Four grand children and three nieces also survive.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Snyder funeral home of this city, with Rev. Burkhart, pastor of the Bucyrus Christian church officiating. Burial will be made in the cemetery at Iberia.

SANDUSKY—(AP)—The head-on collision of an automobile and a truck at the eastern city limits today killed two men, occupants of the automobile.

They were identified as Roland Fleming, 30, Vermilion, and Roy A. Cothern, 39, Vermilion, formerly of Canal Fulton. Leon Grilley, 36, Cleveland, the truck driver, was uninjured.

HELD TO JURY

Ex-Richland County Men Face Farm Theft Charges.

Two former Richland county men were held for the Ashland county grand jury today under $500 bond each after they pleaded guilty to a breaking and entering charge involving the theft of chickens, calves and meat from Richland and Ashland county farms.

Unable to furnish bond, the men, Charles Spayde, 54, and his son-in-law, John Lozier, both of Akron, were returned to the Ashland county jail after a hearing yesterday before Justice of the Peace M. O. Poorman of Ashland.

They were traced through tracks left by automobile tires and information obtained from Mrs. W. C. Smith of near Lucas, who lost 29 chickens. They were arrested at Akron by Sheriffs E. P. Long of Richland county and Dale Hammond of Ashland county.

Lozier told officers his two sons were also involved in the thefts. He signed a written confession admitting theft of stolen chickens, calves, a child's scooter, and cured hams and bacon.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Which is higher—a full house or a straight flush?"

FAIR ENOUGH!

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Two hard-working clowns from the middle west, the old vaudeville, carnival and night club comedy team of Olsen and Johnson, have had an unusual experience in New York.

After years of trouping in the high minors they hit town with a loose-jointed show called "Hellzapoppin," which soon burst the seams of one house and moved into the Winter Garden, where they seem likely to run on and on.

That is not unique, but, on the side, the men have become the subject of a controversy, slightly touched with bitterness. The question is, "are they funny?" and the discussion has led to cold-blooded and disenchanting analysis of humor and comparisons between spontaneity and premeditation, reminiscent of debates on the distinction between love and lust, courage and foolhardiness, capital and income.

Olsen and Johnson are safe, for parents now are beginning to nominate their young at birth for seats at "Hellzapoppin" when they come of age, and it may become necessary to adopt a system of selection of future clients based on geographical, political and social fitness, combining the best elements of those employed for filling the rosters of exclusive prep schools and the United States supreme court.

From personal observation I can say that the customers offer no resistance or that if they do resist they are quickly overpowered, and my own reaction to the expert, conscientious scoffing is about the same as that of a man who comes away from a prize fight thrilled by the bitter struggle and dramatic knockout, to read in the morning papers that he has been deceived by a sordid mockery, or fake.

Now that my attention is called to it, I have to admit, slowly and with resentment, that almost everything that Olsen and Johnson do was done for years and years in vaudeville shows and that they apparently have made high-priced and exclusive hilarity of that quality which I am told was called "corny" by the profession and "lousy" by the patrons

But if I admit that the same vaudeville acts, performed as vaudeville, even in a second-rate house, would drive the customers down the fire escape in esthetic panic, I still have to insist that the people in this show do them with an extra lick, which makes the difference between dead and dusty vaudeville houses and the current confusion at the Winter Garden.

I would add, however, a feeling that, however deliberate and studied their seemingly offhand nonsense, Olsen and Johnson have taken the popular sense of humor around a corner and back along a homely old street so long unfrequented that it had been forgotten.

For years the patrons of night clubs and theaters here and yonder have been treated by famous comics as though they were not-too-welcome intruders in private jollifications arranged for the purpose of permitting them to discuss their personal affairs, their wealth, their radio contracts, their moving picture successes and their families.

The celebrated artists among them have appeared not as entertainers paid to amuse but with a manner of condescension, as celebrities giving their time and art in generous response to great demand. They learned to smirk at the customers and to indulge in professional small-talk about the mechanics of "selling" a song to the house and building up a gag —matters which belittled the patrons' own intelligence and their standing in the theater and should have been discussed in private, if at all.

It is at its worst now on the radio, where paid performers take advantage of their time to engage in pretentious feuds, all done in a mood of smug and lofty good-fellowship and advertise one another as great characters to the neglect of the public appetite in impersona entertainment for its own sake. One comedian even made a momentary success by stealing material from others and naming and advertising the victim of his pilferage.

Entertainment in the theater, on the floor and on the air has become so intimate, so much an occasion for personal, professional boasting, log-rolling and sticky compliments or elaborately friendly insults that Olsen and Johnson, being innocent of all this, have given the public an entire change of style, pace and scene.

So impersonal are these "corny hams" so intent on the show and indifferent to individual exploitation that I, who have known them both for years, still don't know which is Olsen and which is the other guy.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—This is open season on "ten bests." Everybody's doing it. But not Ferdinand. And not me, either.

Ferdinand and I, we're going to sit around a while today and smell the pretty flowers of the year's cinematic crop—and try to forget the smell of some productions that were not exactly flowers.

The trouble with "ten best" lists is that they're so all-fired arbitrary. You pick out ten—and it's just the same as saying that the rest weren't so hot. Well maybe there weren't even ten first-rate movies the past year—but there was a bumper crop of pictures that didn't waste your time, that gave entertainment, and, in one or more respects, were exceptional.

When I try to think of movies I'd like to see again—and that's as good a test as any — I can't get away from "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Or from "You Can't Take It With You."

But I could look too at "The Citadel," and "If I Were King," and "The Young in Heart," and "Alexander's Ragtime Band," and "Boys Town," and the Deanna Durbin number, "Mad About Music," and "Four Daughters," and "Test Pilot" and—but, see, there's ten already.

And there are others. I wouldn't sell "Jezebel" short, or "Robin Hood," and for a couple of less pretentious but fine films I can't forget "A Man to Remember" and "Yellow Jack." "Marie Antoinette," despite its excessive length and its overdose of glitter, had its points.

Caught with nothing better to do, I wouldn't mind another look at Hepburn in "Holiday," at Danielle Darrieux in "The Rage of Paris," at Hedy Lamarr in "Algiers—the latter mainly because I wouldn't mind a look at Hedy Lamarr any time! "Angels With Dirty Faces?" Sure thing — and "Submarine Patrol" too. Just one Astaire-Rogers thing ought to be in a list of pleasant memories—and I'll take "Carefree."

This is the time of year, too, when it's customary for everybody to name a "best performance" or two. I'm willing to let the Academy hand out the Oscars, but if anybody turned in a better job than Robert Donat's in "The Citadel" I didn't see it. And I suppose the ladies' award should go to Bette Davis for "Jezebel" and "The Sisters" — unless you bunch the splendid, shining work of Margaret Sullavan in several films.

The "new star" list is headed, naturally, by Hedy Lamarr (who is a "personality find"), and John Garfield, who is an actor. Comeback-of-the-year is Lew Ayres—he started it in "Holiday" and has made it stick in each picture.

In the "character" department I prefer Fay Bainter's work in "White Banners" and Will Fyffe's in "To the Victor." And for most consistent support in lesser roles, all outstanding, I nominate the veteran Harry Davenport (the judge in "You Can't Take It With You," the uncle in "The Cowboy and the Lady," etc.).

Take Trip Miss Fairfax Suggests

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Instead of being radiantly happy and walking on air, as every young man who is going to marry the only girl within a month should be, this correspondent tells me he's walking the floor and tearing his hair. And this is because he and his fiancee had been talking for two years about the southern cruise honeymoon they were going to go on, taking in Havana and all sorts of romantic places where the moon is honeymoon size.

For two years he's been saving and scrimping for this joyous excursion, and his girl just can't talk about anything else. Then his father, aided and abetted by his mother, gave him a grim talk on the virtues of economy. Why spend every cent he had on a honeymoon? How did he know he was going to keep his job? How did he know what fate had in store for them? They might be knocked down by an automobile, get pneumonia, have to pay doctors' bills, go to a hospital—why waste money on a honeymoon?

What would I suggest to a young man in his place? He has a good job, has been with the firm six years, and apparently they like him. Is it safe to take the risk? And, throwing precautions to the wind. I'm going to suggest to that young man to go ahead and buy the tickets. You see, the truth is I'm all for honeymoons. Thrift is a necessary virtue, and family life goes on the rocks if economy isn't practiced, but a honeymoon is happiness insurance.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

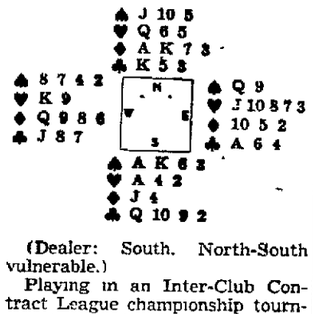
"The Authority on Authorities"

A SERIES OF SAFETIES

ONE SAFETY play after another is called for in the effort to make some contracts. As many as three of more may be required by thoroughly sound considerations. Several of them may prove not to have been necessary or even of any importance whatsover. But some one or two of them may prove the deciding factor meaning the difference between success of the entire enterprise or dismal overwhelming failure.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

Playing in an Inter-Club Contract League championship tournament game in New York, Edgar F Bloom of the Metropolitan club gave on this deal an example of the kind of clear thinking which has caused him to become president of the Great Western Electric company. After bidding 1-Spade in the South, his partner's 2-Diamonds, followed by East's 2-Hearts, enabled him to call 2-No Trump, which North raised to three.

West led the heart K in answer to his partner's bid. With this same lead at another table, South went down two. He took the first trick with the A, led to the diamond A, led the spade J, covered by the Q and A, took the spade 10 and K, led the diamond J, covered by the Q and K, led a club to the A, and East knocked out the heart Q. The club 10 finesse lost to West, who cashed the spade 8, led to East's diamond 10, and two hearts set the contract two.

Mr. Bloom, however, started playing safe by ducking the heart K lead, taking the next. The spade J, covered by the Q and A, was followed by a club to the K and A. The heart A was knocked out, spade 10 cashed, then a safe shift made to the club 10 finesse, which lost. West, with no spade yet set up, returned one to the A, whereupon Mr. Bloom ran two clubs and two diamonds for game, giving up a diamond at the end.

Against bidding of 2-No Trump by South and 3-No Trump by North, what should West lead?

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, January 6.

MUCH high-tension activity is presaged for this day, according to aspects of the forward-looking planets, which wield powerful influence on the inventive and creative faculties All sorts of innovations, novelties and bold experiments of a practical nature should receive splendid impetus. For furthering such progressive efforts there should be capital and substantial support from large institutions and "big business," and strangers or fresh contacts may stand ready with encouragement In social, domestic and cultural directions there is much pleasant and profitable association. It is a most auspicious time for moving forward, even though the personal finances are low.

Those whose birthday it is are stepping into a year of unusual opportunity for putting into execution their ambitious and long-cherished plans for doing something unique or original "in a big way". Methods and objectives may be audacious, entirely new and out-of-the-routine, thus enlisting the solid support of big capital. Personal and social prestige also partake of this extraordinary stimuli, with hints of romance and adventure.

A child born on this day may be extremely talented, original, creative and productive. Not only will it be progressive in a practical and industrial, inventive or scientific manner, but in artistic and cultural expression as well.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

The relief mirrored in Dicky's eyes as I told him that there wasn't time for him to explain his telephone call because I wanted him to hear my letter to Miss Whitlock was ample reward for stilling my really avid curiosity concerning the "business" which was so vital that he had to be called up during an apparently social call upon strangers.

"Just as you say, of course," he commented nonchalantly. "It really isn't important enough to take up the time of that letter you want to read me. And I sure wouldn't have time for both. So go ahead—shoot the works on the letter."

I picked up the letter, but as I was about to read it I noted an omission of something most important.

"What is the address of this friend of yours, Thorp?" I asked. "I haven't put any on this."

"Which would be a serious blunder with keen-eyed old Phil lamping the letter," he replied. "Shall I write it down, or will you make a note of it?"

He dictated the full name and address of his friend, Thorp, in South Jersey, whose aid in fooling Philip Veritzen he was about to invoke, and then, settling a little deeper in my chair, I began the reading of the letter to Miss Whitlock which she was to show to Mary's father-in-law should he demand proof of her announcement that she had heard from me.

"Dear Miss Whitlock," I began again, after repeating the address Dick had just given me. "I owe you a thousand apologies. I have just remembered that in my haste upon the day we left—so many little things to engage my attention—that I did not leave my address with you. What must you have thought of my carelessnes! I am sending it on now, although we are coming home very shortly, so that you will know where to reach my niece or myself should any emergency arise.

"You cannot reach us by telephone, for Mr. Thorp has none, he loving the old-fashioned ways to the extent of doing without electricity and central heating as well as the telephone. But a telegram to us in care of him will reach us eventually, although you must not look for a quick reply. We are really very primitive and far from neighbors down here.

"You will be delighted, I know, to hear how much improved my niece is in health. Her nerves have quieted down, and she is eating and sleeping most satisfactorily.

"We shall be home in a day or two, for my niece is extremely anxious to get back to her work. I will wire you when we are arriving as soon as I decide just when we are starting.

"Again apologizing most deeply for my remissness, I am, as ever,

"Yours most sincerely,

"Margaret Graham.'

As I laid down the letter, Dicky sprang to his feet and, putting his hand over his heart, made me a low salaam.

"As always, you've turned the trick," he said. "That ought to satisfy even Phil Veritzen's most suspicious mind. Give it over. Oh!" — blankly — "you've got to copy it on your own note paper, and I promised this bird who telephoned me that I'd be with him in half an hour."

"Won't he wait a few minutes?" I asked. "I shall be only a short time copying this."

"It isn't a question of willingness," my husband replied shortly. "It's a question of being on a rather unpleasant spot. However, I'll have to take the chance. Hurry up with your copying, and I'll go down to the booth in the lobby, call Jim back and tell him to wait over until I get there."

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

BILL and Guido spend all their time working on plans for the big party, so I have been taking Vittoria out sightseeing, and I've been doing some sightseeing myself. It is a shame that we live in a big city and take all its wonders and beauties for granted. I tell you that I felt ashamed that I hadn't visited the Statue of Liberty or enjoyed the wonders of the various museums.

Vittoria just loves sightseeing. She has been reading all about our town and is much better informed about it than I am. She made me take her down to the east side, to the Battery, and insisted on having a ferry ride. Of course, she loved the Italian quarter and gave away quarters and dollar bills galore

Exciting Experience.

We were walking through a crowded street when an elderly couple came along. They started and stared at Vittoria then the woman asked her something. They started talking, then they hugged and kissed each other. Vittoria told me that the couple worked on her parent's estate when she was a child. Then they had left to come to America, sent for by their sons who had migrated here. It appears that the sons set them up in a nice uptown apartment, but when they were older they weren't happy, so they went to live in the crowded Italian quarter of the town. Well, you should have heard the talking, the crying and the laughter. Vittoria promised to bring Guido down and to come for a meal with the old people before they left for the south.

Woman Grand Cook.

The old people knew that Vittoria was married and was here on her honeymoon because they had read all about it in their newspaper. But of course, they had no idea where she was living.

One of the frocks Vittoria brought with her shows an entirely new silhouette that is likely to become popular here. The frock is of navy serge, with navy and white foulard at yoke and sleeves. The bodice is form fitting, dipping down to a point both front and back in a manner that is reminiscent of the basque dresses at the turn of the century.

New silhouette.

My Neighbor Says:

Never water house plants with other than water from the faucet. Florists never use heated water and, as you know, they have so much money invested in plants that they must meet with success.

Fat burns easily. It should therefore, be handled carefully during the cooking. Even a small amount of fat in a frying pan will ignite if it is over-heated. A kettle of deep fat can quickly produce quite a blaze.

Answer to Mid-Winter Clothes Slump

First cornerstone in the foundation of an adequate wardrobe is a simple coat. This one is made of smoke blue wool, piped in velvet of a slightly deeper shade and left unfurred so that it may answer many different needs. Schiaparelli makes this all-around frock of Garter blue crepe as a pivotal piece in a balanced wardrobe. The new low waistline, the smocking and gold bells which tinkle down its front are distinguishing features.

Spiced Vinegar Recipe

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

HERE WE ARE, Well into the blustery months with plenty to do. Theater parties, sleigh rides, skating parties, bridge parties, informal dances—all these call for hot, sustaining food to sustain guests for the homeward trek. As the buffet becomes more and more popular, new and delightful dishes play starring roles on the festive board. Cheese dishes are very popular, so are fish mixtures, hefty sandwiches to delight the stalwart menfolk, and meaty salads for those who like meat but like it well mixed with green stuff and a spicy dressing.

Spiced vinegar adds to the delight of buffet dishes. Generally these vinegars aren't to be bought in any but the finest food specialty shops, so it is nice to make 'em oneself and give the food a cachet all its own.

A standard spiced vinegar mixture is white pepper, allspice, bay leaves and mace. Take equal quantities of the spices named and use one ounce of this spice mixture to each quart of vinegar. Warm the vinegar before adding spices to it, and then bottle it. Separate vinegars may be made of just mint or rosemary or tarragon flavoring for wide variety. Incidentally, a selection of these vinegars, all done up in nice little bottles and set into gift baskets, makes a grand present, not expensive, but not likely to be duplicated.

If the home-made spiced vinegars turn out to be very strong, it is easy to correct the fault. Add more plain vinegar to dilute it, adding slowly. Then change the formula on the next batch to suit the family taste.

Chili powder is becoming more popular all the time. Visitors to Californian homes will surely remember the delicious chili-flavored dishes so popular there. Chili is a mixture of Mexican chilies plus cumin seed and oregano. It is delicious in any cheese dish, in scrambled eggs, in canape spreads.

Here's a grand chili dish. It calls for one No. 2 can salmon, cup of thick sour cream and one-half to one teaspoon chili powder (according to taste). Separate salmon into large pieces, remove skin and bone, and place with cream and chili powder in buttered casserole. Bake in 300 F. oven for 45 minutes. Serve very hot on toast, garnished with lemon slices, parsley, tomato and paprika.

Soups can be prepared in advance for buffet suppers; they make nice hearty dishes. So can salads. Those tiny rosebud beets in cans make excellent salad material. Warm them slightly first, then coat with olive oil. Chill them. Sprinkle them with celery seed, marjoram, dried mint and black pepper, until the right blend of flavor is achieved for your particular taste. Add a little lemon juice and rather less than one-half teaspoon sugar Arrange on bed of crisp lettuce and garnish with sour cream. This dish is also attractive if you use sliced beets.

Give Face Extra Care Winter Days

By MME. QUI VIVE

What we all need is a weatherproof complexion. In the sidy summer season it is burned by Mr. Sol's kisses speckled with yellow polka dots or bronzed like the hide of an old salt. In cold weather the cutaneous covering flakes, the impertinent nose takes on a rosebud blush that is no beauty bargain.

In winter there are more dry skins than oil, ones; the opposite condition is true when the apple blossoms bloom. A dry skin will lap up an amazing amount of oil. So don't stint. Don't consider the beauty budget. Be reckless, keep on frictioning the flesh for at least five minutes.

If soap can be used without irritation use it freely at night, never before going out of doors or directly after coming in. It is the best mild antiseptic one can find and the docs assure us that bacteria is ever lurking on human flesh. If it produces redness, use a cleansing oil first, apply the soapy washcloth to the face while the oil remains on. A dry skin should not be scrubbed or scoured. It gets as mad as all get out. Be gentle. Pet it, humor it.

Cold water is not good for the parched skin, very hot water is likely to aggravate the shedding process. Have the water warm enough to remove dust and make-up, no warmer.

Be fussy about the soap you use. Try out new ones. All soaps do not agree with all skins.

To encourage the seabaceous glands to exude more of their contents—Nature provided them for the purpose of lubricating the skin—put more olive oil in your salad dressing, more butter on bread. Lack of fat in the diet is often the cause of a dry skin.

The atmosphere of the home should be moist. Keep water containers on radiators. Hot, stale air is as bad for the complexion as it is for the lungs and the spirits. On rainy days get out and hoof it. Cold moisture is beautifying.
